Letters

This letter was written by Theta's Grand President to a college girl. The Administrative Committee of Grand Council asked that it be printed as an open letter to all members of college chapters. The name has been changed but the content is the same.

Dear Mary,

Central Office has forwarded your letter to me. I am going to answer it as I would if you were my little sister and say to you the things I would say to her.

Many times people ask, "What is a fraternity?" To those of us who belong to Kappa Alpha Theta it is an opportunity for wide and wise service. It believes in education for women, responsibility for all, self discipline, high standards of moral conduct, respect for others, close knit bonds of friendship and the right of free association. Sometimes people get mixed up as to what fraternity and sisterhood mean; sometimes they do not realize that fraternity is a two way street and that one who joins accepts responsibility as well as privileges.

I would hope that each member as she takes her pledge vows and as she later takes her initiation vows would read them carefully and would recognize that she has assumed a real responsibility to live in such a way as to make the world a better place in which to live. I would hope she would understand in a mature fashion that the fraternity can be a guide and a help to a better way of life and that she has an obligation as a member to teach this kind of life by example.

I would hope that she and her chapter sisters would understand from the beginning that the chapter has a responsibility to guide its members not only in scholastic standards but in standards of moral conduct. The fraternity as a whole, the national fraternity, would expect each chapter to teach these standards in both Pledge Education and in chapter living and the national fraternity would not expect to initiate any discipline unless the chapter had failed to recognize its own responsibility and administered that discipline. This has been the way of the fraternity for almost a hundred years and if a chapter ever reaches the stage where it does not recognize the necessity for discipline and does not exercise it, I think it is time for the chapter to take a long, long look at itself to see if it is the "widest influence for good."

If I were to define love, I would take the first definition in the dictionary, "A strong affection or attachment to a person," and I would go on to the 13th chapter of Corinthians in the Bible and read it carefully and I would then know that love is greater than passion, that love considers parents, schools, fraternities, friends, even oneself and I would think that one who truly loves also has strength, has self control and thinks of others. I would be sorry for those who do not recognize love as the great thing that it is.

I would recognize that the person in need of discipline has forgotten what love really is and has forgotten that each of us has to have self-discipline if we are to be a force for good in this world.

Your national officers have spent a great deal of time talking with college administrators, deans, parents, other fraternity people and perhaps most important of all—doctors. They have spent a great deal of time talking to lawyers who are faced with divorce cases, with judges who handle desertion cases and financial affairs of the divorced couples. It is on the advice of all these that we stand for high moral standards, the sanctity of marriage; that we stand against pre-marital relations. These people that we have consulted do not believe that such stands are "out of sight," "old fashioned," or "antiquated."

We who are the officers of the fraternity are deeply concerned with the individual. We are deeply sorry for any girl who requires discipline for moral reasons and each of us would help her in any personal way that we could, but we are also responsible for guiding 10,000 college girls now and many, many thousands who will come after this generation. It is not an easy task and we are not Solomons, but we believe in the fraternity system and believe it will last only as long as it maintains its high moral standards and as long as the individual members accept their share of the responsibility.

I know how deeply hurt you must be. I am sure that you hope that your little sister realizes that each of us can hurt another by her actions. I would ask you what can you do to see that others recognize self-discipline and self-responsibility and I would ask you, "What would you do if you carried the responsibility that the officers of your fraternity carry?"

May you throughout your life remember that "no man is an island unto himself," that we teach best by example and may you live in such a way that you express what leadership in a young woman can be.

As I told you in the beginning, I am writing you as I would write if you were my little sister. Will you read and ponder over this?

Loyally,

VIRGINIA S. EDWARDS

THE COVER: We sometimes tend to think that the sun always shines on Thetas. Not so, as proved by Rosemary Raymond, personable first president of one of Theta's newer chapters, Delta Nu at the University of Arkansas. Rosemary is shown in her candy-striped raincoat and matching umbrella on her way to the library "eager to promote a top-ranking scholastic mark for the chapter." The words in quotation marks come from the pen of Kathleen Dozier, women's editor of the Springdale News, Springdale, Ark., who did a series of stories on the University of Arkansas' nine sororities in her paper. Our cover picture, taken by staff photographer, Charles Bickford, appeared originally in the full-page feature about our busy Arkansas Thetas.

Quotation For Summer

"People make their own peanut butter sandwiches."—Jean Berg, Pennsylvania. (See p. 6.)

YOUR EDITOR HAS A NOTION that you will think our Quotation for Summer is a bit kooky. Not so! Theta writer Jean Berg says it embodies her philosophy—people get what they want and work toward. It is based on a favorite family joke about two workmen who brought their lunches to the factory every day. One constantly complained about everything, especially about his lunch. "I've had peanut butter sandwiches for lunch every day now for ten days," he complained. "But," said the other man, "Your wife seems a lovely person. Why would she pack the same lunch for so many days in a row?" "Leave my wife out of it," growled the first man, insulted. "I pack my own lunches."

The preceding is just another interesting story we had to leave out of the main body of the magazine because of lack of space. Sometimes as we cut and snip copy we feel there is about as much good copy outside as inside. It's a bit like the way we write our daughter who is spending her Junior Year Abroad in Munich. "All we know about hometown news is what we've read in the paper," we write her, "but the more interesting news you'd rather hear, never gets in print!"

Another story which we liked which was left over from this issue is one about Marlo Thomas (page 20) who was the star of a benefit put on by San Diego Thetas. Meeting the San Diego State pledge class Marlo launched into a little speech telling them she had been pledge vice-president at USC and about what lasting friends are made during pledgship. She pointed to the head table and said, "These girls are still my friends after all these years." Whereupon a pledge spoke up, "I hope that when I am old and famous I'll remember my pledge sisters."

Marlo gasped. (She is 30.—EDITOR) "Old—and famous!" Then she turned to her USC roommate, Tommi Adelizzi, asking, "Tommi, since when are we pledging 12-year-olds; they look so young!"

Tommi says further, that though she and Marlo hadn't seen each other in years until that day, they immediately started chuckling about shared college experiences. Says Tommi: "Marlo has a wonderful sense of humor. She is very much like the girl she plays on TV. She has that special quality that makes people want to be around her because she brightens the day." (No doubt Marlo makes her own peanut butter sandwiches!—EDITOR.)

Another bit of news about Thetas left over from the issue concerns the Straight "A" Thetas (page 26). Imagine our pleased surprise to find that for the year 1966-67 the number of Thetas making straight "A" has shot right up toward the moon. Since we have been keeping records on this (1954), the highest number of Straight "A" Thetas was 207 from 70 chapters. This issue records 314 such Thetas from 81 chapters. This is about a 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ % jump. And yet they tell us that college work is harder than it ever was!

We also have here a poem dedicated to Soley Dietz, the Theta completely bedfast from polio (Winter Magazine, page 27) who has been such an inspiration to so many people. "Vibrant. Giving. Loving." These adjectives in the poem describe Soley. The poem also says she speaks out "in peace, that we might learn and understand how good is life, how strong is courage."

So, as we come to the end of the college year 1967-68 and look in retrospect on all the good copy we have handled, both inside and outside the magazine, we want to say our "annual thank you" to all who sent material to the magazine, those who "had" to do it because they were elected editors, and those who didn't have to, but did, our "spontaneous" contributors. We love you all.

And now to coming deadlines:

All editors and "spontaneous" contributors: July 15. Due: General items for Autumn Issue, 1968. Send copy to Mrs. Herbert L. Garrard, 10 Heather Lane, Route 3, Noblesville, Ind. 46060.

How Can Alumnæ Help?

The question of how alumnæ can help is one that each Theta must answer for herself. Each answer is different—each answer important to Kappa Alpha Theta.

Recently I attended a Theta alumnæ meeting in a college city. Ten alumnæ, all interested in the fraternity, discussed in an informal way what they do to help. Here are their answers:

- ♦ A middle-aged member told of experiences as delegate to City Panhellenic where she helped with problems common to all Greek groups.
- ♦ Two busy young school teachers pointed out how effective their services on the Rush Recommendations Board were and urged all alumnæ to write voluntary recommendations for college-bound girls.
- ♦ A dear fifty-year member told of her work to encourage Thetas to become members of LINK and to contribute to the Foundation.
- ♦ Two homemakers and a career girl responded with the joy they had received from working directly with college members by serving on the Advisory Board.
- ♦ Only one member of a Corporation Board was on hand, but she had a great deal to say about her work.
- ♦ One member present had served as a district officer for two terms; she said she had received from Theta far more than she had given.
- ♦ The discussion continued with mention of philanthropic work, serving as officers in the alumnæ group, helping with rush by furnishing food and attending social functions of the college chapter.

When I left this Theta circle of friendship, I knew I had the answer to my question: How can alumnæ help? I hope I have passed an answer or two along to you.

JOANN CRITES THOMPSON, Vice-President, Alumnæ

Contemporary Revolt

by Harold Blake Walker

Minister, Evanston, Ill.

Newspaper, magazine and television reports have been recording the revolt of youth in glaring accounts of weird dress, strange talk, odd customs and "the new morality." There have been revolts of students on dozens of campuses throughout the nation and stories of "the pursuit of happiness" through marijuana and LSD. The reports add up to a portrait of ethical and spiritual disintegration.

Normally we think of revolt in terms of goals to be accomplished, but the contemporary radicals seem to be leading a revolt without form or focus. The rebels are "without a cause." There is a basic "againstness" in the revolt of the present—against authority, against the so-called "Establishment," against discipline. The revolt may have some point if it inspires both the older and the younger generations to a re-evaluation of life as it is today.

All of us are aware of the disintegration of order in contemporary society. We feel it in the form of strikes against industry, violence on the streets, marches and so on. Something has gone wrong with the American Dream, and somehow our faith has not enlisted the loyalty and devotion of the rising generation.

The new radicals with their "new morality" seem to be saying that anyone who believes in God or in any imperative values simply is not "with it." Everything has to be "exciting."

It is good to be alive, however, not when we are indiscriminately searching for excitement and tingling nerves, but rather when, unconscious of our own ego demands, we are pursuing worthy goals.

The excitement the young radicals of today are seeking centers too much in a dimension that does not reach beyond self. Some months ago on a TV program I found myself talking with a young man who had experimented liberally with LSD. He insisted that everyone ought to take an LSD trip. "It is exciting and renewing," he said. When I asked him, "renewing of what?" he shrugged his shoulders.

No doubt an LSD trip is exciting, something new and different. The young man compared it to "mystical experience" in religion. But it should be noted that mystical experience in the lives of the saints had profound moral and spiritual consequences that made the saints sources of dynamism and power for good in the world. The LSD tripper finds no such ethical dynamic as a consequence of his trip. The trip begins and ends in himself.

The really exciting moments in life are the moments when we are doing work in which we delight, serving causes that bring meaning to our lives, or advancing steadily in the direction of our worthy goals. Andrew Wyeth finds excitement in creating things of beauty to be "a joy forever." The scientist finds rare excitement in a fruitful experiment. There is excitement for the writer in finding the right phrase, the right word or sentence with which to articulate his ideas. There is excitement in learning, in the moment when an idea comes alive with significance and meaning.

Cheap excitements leave us poorer, not richer; excitement that is creative leaves a lasting glow. Excitement that has its focus on nothing beyond self-satisfaction leaves us drained; while that which finds its center in something beyond ourselves is a "keepsake, lasting beyond hunger and death," to quote Carl Sandburg.

HAROLD BLAKE WALKER is not only a distinguished minister, having served the First Presbyterian Church of Evanston, Ill., since 1947, but he is an author as well (nine titles), active in national Presbyterian circles, and a civic figure in his city and state. A graduate of the University of Denver (where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha), he was an Associated Press editor and writer in Kansas City, Mo., in 1929 when he first met Theta Mary Alice Corder, Alpha Mu, Missouri, who was then teaching algebra in the Independence, Mo., schools. They were married in 1930. They have three sons, also co-authored a book Venture of Faith. Dr. Walker is a daily columnist for the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate. The accompanying article first appeared as one of these columns, is reprinted by permission.

Jean
Horton
Berg

What Makes a Writer?

"People make their own peanut butter sandwiches." That is the philosophy of Jean Horton Berg, Beta Eta, Pennsylvania, mother, wife, housekeeper and writer of books, stories and verses for children, who lives in Wayne, Pa.

Jean Berg has written over 21 books for children, the latest of which, Miss Tessie Tate, was picked as a Literary Guild selection. (See review, page 18.) To Mrs. Berg, the idea that people make their own peanut butter sandwiches (based on a favorite family joke) is another way of saying that people get what they want and work toward. This philosophy finds its way into her books.

In her stories Mrs. Berg attempts to put herself in the place of a young child, to write stories that will be especially meaningful for small readers. "I believe in using a plot for children," she says, "that is, a problem with a development and solution."

All of the letters that she receives from children are promptly answered, personally. A pile of children's letters is one of the first items on Mrs. Berg's busy desk. Also in sight are a sewing machine, a yellow parakeet and pictures of the three Berg children, Jean, Julie and John. (Jean and Julie, both graduates of the University of Pennsylvania like their mother, are also Beta Eta Thetas.)

Mrs. Berg spends many hours with school children, presenting programs, book fairs and discussions. She writes regularly for the children's page of The Christian Science Monitor, does a weekly serial for a Sunday School magazine, is also active in a host of other activities, including the Theta alumnae, and has won several awards.

Five Theta Authors Tell How and Why They Write

She says of her writing, "I respect all children and I consider children's writing as my field, not as a preparation for writing the 'great American novel.' I started to write for my own children but now I write for all children. Too many women tend to get too wrapped up in themselves. As somebody said, age is a neurosis . . . I don't think I will ever be an old woman because I'm still interested in finding out new things.—Adapted from the Pennsylvania Gazette.

Stillmeadow has become a way of life for thousands of people and especially for Gladys Bagg Taber, Alpha Psi, Lawrence, the long-time writer-in-residence there (since 1931). To most, the word and the place seem to mean an awareness of and communication with the elemental forces around them. It represents a homespun philosophy which has been ladled out in gentle fashion by the genial grandmother for over 30 years.

"I don't write about controversial things," says Mrs. Taber, "but I like to believe that people find a deeper meaning in my work."

It seems entirely likely they do. About 7,000 letters pour into Stillmeadow each year—much of it "problem" mail requesting advice. Mrs. Taber answers each letter personally. Along with the mail comes a steady stream of visitors from all over the country.

Between mail and visitors, Mrs. Taber finds time to maintain the prodigious output which has, in the past 30 years, made her one of the country's most popular writers. Her 40 books run the gamut from novels to cookbooks. (See review, page 18.)

Born in Colorado Springs, Colo., Mrs. Taber took her undergraduate degree at Wellesley, then took her master's in English at Lawrence as a teaching assistant. For years she was a contributing editor on the Ladies' Home Journal, currently writes a column, "Butternut Wisdom," for the Family Circle magazine.

Like many professionals, writing is something Mrs. Taber does not only because she likes it, but because she must. "I get an upset stomach if I don't work," she says. She often spends eight hours a day at the typewriter. She calls herself "a night person" and does much of her writing when most of her neighbors in Southbury, Conn. are asleep.

She believes "the most important thing for a writer is feeling. He must have empathy. If he does, it follows that he will develop acute observation, and words become like a stream flowing.

"Many people who want to write fail because they are more interested in themselves than in others."—Adapted from Waterbury Sunday Republican and Wellesley Alumnae Magazine.

Once upon a time, in a land beside a mountain, there lived a most delightful family. Their great house atop a hill overflowed with paintings, and pictures, and publications, and people. The door opened to release a welcome that warmed the coldest winter night. . . .

A fairy tale? No! It is the real life story of Wende (Dorothy Wende), Chi, Syracuse, and her husband Harry Devlin, residents of the house on the hill in Mountainside, N.J., whose talents in art and literature are enjoyed by youngsters from 4 to 40.

Working as a team, the Devlins have revolted against the same pattern often associated with children's books, have filled theirs with action and noise thereby harvesting a crop of stories that are a blessed panacea for small people suffering from chronic TV-itis.

An even more impressive team project has been the production of seven little Devlins, ranging in age from 11 to 25. Raising a large family, writing a regular feature for Good

The Devlins. His, the illustrations; hers, the story.

Ellen Cameron Wilson: "Writing is exciting."

Housekeeping, authoring books and caring for a 10-room house are all in the day's work for Wende. Harry's illustrations and cartoons are nationally known while both Devlins are serious artists and their Victorian house is adorned with landscapes, abstracts and magnificent oil portraits of their children.

Harry and Wende were married shortly after they both graduated from Syracuse University. In the late 1950's Wende started writing in earnest. Her first literary effort teamed with her husband resulted in the creation of "Raggmopp," a syndicated comic strip which has appeared in newspapers as far away as Honolulu. She did the story line, he the illustrations.

Their children's book writing is usually done at night at the kitchen table. According to Harry, Wende comes up with the format, while he contributes words and ideas, many of which are derived while at the drawing board. They rewrite each other's sentences, change paragraphs and toss suggestions around, well armed with the perception of parents and authors who know what their young readers will most enjoy. —Adapted from the Westfield Leader.

A good book coupled with a child's imagination can produce some of the happiest, pleasantest experiences in all childhood. This fact is recognized by Ellen Cameron Wilson, Gamma deuteran, Ohio Wesleyan, of Bloomington, Ind., an author of children's books.

Mrs. Wilson has written three books for the Bobbs-Merrill "Childhood of Famous American Series," the latest of which is Robert Frost (see review, page 18) and with Mrs. Nan Hayden Agle, has authored seven books about triplets named Abercrombie, Benjamin and Christopher.

"Children are so responsive," Mrs. Wilson explains. "They always tell you how they feel about a book, which makes it challenging to write something they will like."

Her writing career began in 1948 when she and her family lived in Baltimore and her three sons, William and twins Cameron and Douglas, were young. Mrs. Agle, who lived next door, had two sons of her own.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Agle began to write, drawing from the antics of their own boys. Today Mrs. Agle still resides in Baltimore, thus the co-authors must write their books through correspondence. Mrs. Wilson writes a chapter and sends it to Mrs. Agle, who adds another chapter, and the process continues.

In writing the "Three Boys" books Mrs. Wilson has experienced the fun the boys have in their books. When the triplets took a train ride, she rode in the cab of the Monon line to discover the sensation of the experience. Similarly, she has flown in a helicopter and ridden in a tugboat as did the three boys.

Two of the books have been selected for its members by the Junior Literary Guild.

In addition to her writing, Mrs. Wilson teaches a course in children's literature for the Indiana University Bureau of Correspondence Study. She has also been director of the workshop in writing for children at the Writers' Conference at the University of Colorado.

Her sons (now grown) helped Mrs. Wilson to know children and their tastes in literature. "I have never written a book that was not exciting to write," she says.—Adapted from The Bloomington Daily Herald-Telephone.

Authoress Ellie Simmons' third book is unique, but then so is her audience. Dog, recently published by David McKay Company, Inc. (see review, Spring Magazine, page 54), is without words. Aimed at the pre-school set, the story is told through Ellie's detailed and charming drawings of a small boy and his pet.

Ellie Simmons is the pen name of the former Eleanor H. Pownall, Beta Omicron, Iowa (daughter of Dorothy Ashby Pownall, Alpha Psi, Lawrence). A successful author of children's books, a former staff member of the Ladies' Home Journal, an artist and free lance writer, Mrs. Simmons' career since earning her B.A. from the University of Iowa in 1947 has been a busy one.

She and her husband, John, lived in Philadelphia for several years and from 1947 until their son, Fred, was born in 1950, she wrote for and read manuscripts for the Journal. She then turned to free lance writing, mostly instructional type articles for magazines.

In 1953 her daughter, Mary, was born. "That was when I started doing children's books," she recalls. At first she did only illustrations, leaving the text to a collaborator.

"After a while the stories came," she says. In 1960 she published Mary Changes Her Clothes, and from cover to cover it was her creation. Her second book, Mary, the Mouse Champion, was published in 1963.

The Simmons returned to Iowa City in 1961. Mrs. Simmons continued to write free lance magazine articles, to paint and to author children's books. Dog is her first wordless book.

The original drawings for Dog are the same size as the reproductions in the book. But other of her illustrated animals, such as the ones on the walls of the Iowa City Public Library, are near life-size. Mrs. Simmons last year painted the mural on two of the walls of the children's reading room.

Mrs. Simmons does most of her work at home in an upstairs studio. Her young readers are great fans.—From Iowa Alumni Review.

Ellie Simmons stands beside the mural she painted for the children's reading room at the Iowa City Public Library.

I'll always remember these men

Nancy E. Hughes, Tau, Northwestern, is a Pan American Airlines stewardess who, for a little over a year now, instead of making flights to London, Paris, Istanbul or Rome, has been flying with troops to places like Danang, Saigon and Guam. The following article by her is from an interview in her hometown paper, The Main Line Times, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

If you go into Vietnam as a stewardess with any sort of feeling for or against the war, you're dead. What you see is 170 human beings on the airplane and you have to accept it as that. You can't like or dislike it.

The hardest part of my duties is flying home with the men who have served their one year in Vietnam. As stewardess on the plane I represent their first contact with what they call the "real world,"—the world of the folks back home.

The hardest thing for them is to learn to converse, especially the enlisted men who have been in the jungle for a year. You walk down the aisle of the airplane and you see them standing there with pained expressions on their faces, trying to say something. But it doesn't come easy. So very few people are aware of what they've gone through.

And even on the plane home, they're not sure they're going to make it. I sit at the rear of the plane during takeoff and I see their necks, all strained, and then the nose of the plane goes up and the plane breaks ground, but it isn't until 18,000 feet above the Vietcong anti-aircraft fire that the men ease up and relax.

The next stop is usually Guam for refueling, and then Alaska, before coming to San Francisco. It is in Alaska that the men hear the words, "Gentlemen, may I be the first to say welcome home." Every time I hear these words I feel tears come to my eyes.

Then there are the R & R (rest and relaxation) flights to Tokyo or Bangkok or Hawaii, and the men are a little different, for they'll only be away from war for five days. I try to make them relax. Sometimes I go up to a man and say "How would you like to be the coffee man for the day?" Then I give him a chef's hat and apron and he helps me distribute coffee.

They have been away from a lot, so the things we take for granted are what the soldiers look forward to. On the plane there's always a long line waiting to use the lavatory. They want to use the hot water, which they've been away from, especially if they are going to Hawaii to meet their wives.

One fellow told me that the first thing he was going to do when he landed in Hawaii was to rent a car, drive down to Waikiki and start a traffic jam, just so he could hear the sound of car horns. They miss the ring of the telephone, and ice cream and civilian clothes, and traffic jams and bed sheets. When I hand them a pillow on the plane, they hesitate and look at me. They're just not used to it.

But while the trip out on R & R is a happy one, there are fewer smiles on the way back from the sandy beaches of Waikiki, back to the Vietnamese jungles. But the men's morale is always great. Also, they are always gentlemen.

The war means many things to many people, but in the job I have it's always the men I remember best. I'll always remember these men.

LAWYERS' LAWYER

A Theta and her husband, who know and are known by Thetas with lawyer husbands in practically every state in the union, are Randy and Jimmie Fellers. In the past two years they have visited more than 25 states including Hawaii.

James Davison Fellers is a name recognized among legal circles across the nation because of the many top offices he has held in the American Bar Association, an organization of 120,000 members. He is presently holding the second highest office in the ABA, that of chairman of the House of Delegates. He was elected to this high office in 1966 and will complete his term of duty when the ABA convenes in Philadelphia in August 1968.

Husband of Margaret Ellen Randerson Fellers, Alpha Omicron, Oklahoma, Jimmie Fellers has been a leader of his alma mater, the University of Oklahoma, and a consistent supporter of the fraternity system, his fraternity, Phi Kappa Psi, and of Kappa Alpha Theta. There are two Theta daughters, Kay Lynn Fellers Pellow and Lou Ann Fellers Street; he has a Theta sister, Lucy Ellen Fellers Grant, and a Theta niece, Gretchen Grant Stuart, all of whom claim Alpha Omicron as their chapter. As a member of Phi Kappa Psi he served in nearly every Phi Psi office while at the University of Oklahoma and has been active in the OU alumni and the Oklahoma City Phi Psi alumni.

Jimmie Fellers has been active in the ABA for something over 20 years, his first job coming in 1945 when he was elected national chairman of the Junior Bar Conference of the American Bar. More recently he has been president of the Oklahoma Bar Association and has traveled as a representative of the ABA to Geneva, Switzerland and Lagos, Nigeria. This year he will be a delegate at the International Bar Association meeting in Dublin, Ireland.

Theta Margaret Fellers, nicknamed "Randy" by her friends, has truly been "the woman behind the man," attending all of his many meetings around the world and when at home sharing her husband's enthusiasm in various community activities and in her work with the Oklahoma City Theta alumnae. She has been chairman and co-chairman of the Oklahoma Alumnae Chapter's annual Flaming Festival and president of both the Theta Mothers' Club of Oklahoma City and the Theta State Mothers' Club. Add to this the vice-presidency of the Oklahoma University Mothers' Association.

While her husband has centered his community activities around the Chamber of Commerce, Randy has worked with the local Charity Horse Show, and given her efforts to St. Anthony's Hospital, the Oklahoma Art Center, the YWCA and as co-organizer of the Oklahoma County Bar Auxiliary.

Besides their two daughters, the Fellers have a college-age son.

But getting back to Theta—in all of their travels the Fellers agree that the Theta link is wonderful to have. They discover and enjoy Theta-wives-of-lawyers everywhere they go.

MISSOURI CHARTER MEMBER

There is always a trace of excitement in Elizabeth Spaulding's voice when she recalls the beginnings of Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Missouri 58 years ago. And she does it anew each year for Alpha Mu's pledges. When quizzed about her role in that charter group, she rebuts with, "Now, I don't want to talk about myself." She doesn't need to. Elizabeth Spaulding has been doing things for Kappa Alpha Theta most of her life.

For many years she has served on the Alpha Mu Advisory Board. She still attends meetings and is also a member of the House Corporation. Among her other contributions to Theta were several years in the position of chapter financial adviser.

Today Elizabeth Spaulding may be found as gracious as ever amid her lovely antiques in the Spaulding home on Virginia Avenue in Columbia, Mo., where she has lived most of her life. Or, she may just be "out" at DAR, LWV, or some other local activity. Not long ago, she was made an honorary member of the University Fortnightly Club, faculty organization.

"I am a product of the University," she comments. Her father was on the faculty and she taught in the Home Economics Department for more than 35 years. It was Prof. Spaulding, in fact, who agreed to be one of two signers for the lease for the first Theta house in Columbia. (There were only three sororities in town then, and all of them had rented houses.) Getting a charter though was slightly more difficult than it is today, recounts Miss Spaulding. "We had to have a house, be organized as a group and conduct one rush before a Theta charter could be granted. There were about 25 in that first group of Alpha Mu Thetas. We were really close-knit—and we have stayed in touch with one another over the years surprisingly well.

"As for house restrictions on women students in those days, there simply weren't any." Elizabeth Spaulding shrugs, thinking of it. "It simply never dawned on us . . . all the girls just seemed to know when it was proper to come and go!"—MARTHA McELVEEN EZZARD.

HOOSIER HISTORIAN

"If I only had six pairs of hands . . ." The speaker is Alameda McCullough, Alpha Chi, Purdue, who, as curator of the museum of the Tippecanoe County Historical Association at Lafayette, Ind., has far more than a one-man job. Her hours are ostensibly one to five each afternoon, a deceptively short period which does not take into account the various roles she fills as historian and librarian, student, researcher and editor. In fact, at times she becomes restive that she has not yet found time in all the 29 years of her work at the museum to begin to write down some of the fascinating bits of history she has learned about the county. Still, she philosophizes, "I expect I will just drop in my tracks with my boots on unless somebody takes me by the hand and says now's the time to begin writing."

She was active in work with the museum and interested in history before she took her present job. From 1934-39 she was a member of the board of the Tippecanoe County Historical Association. In addition, her parents, who lived on a farm near Lafayette were also interested in history. She admits, "Early conversations about family have always fascinated me."

The museum where she works was an outgrowth of Lafayette's centennial celebration in 1925 since the historical data collected for this anniversary needed housing. Thus, the historical association came into being the next year and a museum was set up in a downtown office building. Today it occupies a spacious old house, former home of one of the town's pioneer families, and it was Alameda McCullough, in her second year as curator, who had to move the museum to this location. With a background of history and English at Purdue, two years of teaching and several years at home battling ill health, she often recalls that she had no training for the museum job when she took it but "learned by doing." Says her board, "She learned quickly and well." And her concern for "her" museum remains an overriding factor in her life.—Adapted from an article in the Lafayette Journal and Courier.

JUST ONE MORE JOB

In some communities they call it "woman-of-the-year." In Salem, Ore., the same honor is bestowed in a different form. The recipient is Mardi Gras Queen. The 1968 Queen is Theta Glenda McCormick Kerr, Alpha Xi, Oregon, who will reign all year as Queen Glenda I.

Queen Glenda (30) is the youngest person ever named for this Salem honor. Her list of achievements and hours of volunteer services are phenomenal. The mother of three young children, she has found time to serve as an officer and volunteer for the SGH Auxiliary, as an officer of Cherry Branch Auxiliary, Boys and Girls Aid Society of Oregon, a board member and regional representative of the Assistance League of Salem, youth director for the American Red Cross, a board member of Salem Art Assn. and as a member and worker with AAUW, Bush House Auxiliary, Salem Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, as well as Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Club president and Willamette Valley Panhellenic representative. Also, she has served as leader in the United Good Neighbors, Cancer Society and March of Dimes campaigns.

According to the Salem press, "Selection of the queen was announced at the annual benefit Mardi Gras Ball of the Salem General Hospital Auxiliary. . . . The instantaneous standing ovation and loud cheers that followed the announcement of the identity of the queen were evidence that the choice was a popular one."

The wife of Bruce S. Kerr, salesman for a Salem radio station, Queen Glenda was chosen by an anonymous committee and was given a jeweled crown and white velvet robe with ermine collar by the retiring 1967 queen. Four other feminine community leaders made up the queen's court and were also honored by the crowd of 400 attending the Mardi Gras Ball.

Further, according to the Salem press, Queen Glenda's "winning personality, her ability to work and get along with people and willingness to do just one more job are the reasons for her success in the community." Yet, "her three children—Karen 6, Scott 4, James 3—come first."

BEST WOMAN GOLFER

"Life begins at forty," was once a common phrase. Today, it is more or less outmoded as life begins for many at ages much past forty. In fact, it might possibly be said that Virginia Guilfoyle Allen, Chi, Syracuse, was waiting for the fifty mark, which she passed in June 1967. This enabled her to compete for the first time in the New York State senior women's golf championship that August. On the other hand, her age does not deter her from competing elsewhere.

In her 38 years of play she has won most of the major championships and is the only Syracusan ever to win the New York State women's golf championship. She has won runner-up trophies several times and has won the Mason-Dixon tournament twice. All of this prompted some 500 of her fellow golfers to tender her a testimonial dinner last September.

The links career of the attractive blonde Syracuse University graduate began in the early 1930's when her parents urged her to take up the game. Today she has enough cases of trophies to open a silver store and she has long been described as Syracuse's "best woman golfer."

A onetime committee member of the U. S. Golf Assn., she has won the women's championship of the Syracuse Yacht and Country Club many times, the women's championship of Bellevue Country Club 13 consecutive years, the city's champion of champions tournament and the championship of the Syracuse Women's District Golf Assn. 17 times. She is a former president of SWDGA.

"Ginnie," as she is known to her many friends, has also been an active and loyal Theta. She is currently serving as Foundation chairman for the Syracuse Alumnae Chapter. Her daughter, also Ginnie, was president of the Chi, Syracuse, collegiate chapter, 1967-68.

The Syracuse press, honoring Golfer Ginnie, notes that golf has changed. Whereas once most participants were men, now women compete constantly on the six Syracuse Country Club courses. And Ginnie Allen remains at the top of them all.—ANN GERMAN HIGBEE.

Spokane Sparkplug

A Spokane, Wash., Theta is the only woman member of a committee of prominent Spokane citizens chosen to work on the project of establishing a graduate center in Spokane. She is Jeanne LaLone Ager, Alpha Sigma, Washington State, president of the Spokane Alumnae Chapter from 1965-67 and active in many community and Theta affairs.

During her college years at Washington State Jeanne distinguished herself as president and song leader of her Theta chapter and was also elected to membership in Mortar Board. Since this time, during her graduate years, she has been rush adviser for the chapter for five years, besides her activities as officer and committee chairman in the Spokane alumnae and her work as college coordinator, a job entailing an effort to establish better relations between Spokane Thetas and the college members of the three nearby chapters.

On the community level Jeanne, who is a charter member of the Spokane College Women's Assn., has just completed a year as this organization's president. Also, as a member of the Spokane Junior League, Jeanne has served this past year on the provisional committee and during the coming year will be educational chairman, i.e., responsible for all League programs.

Jeanne and her husband, Dick, a part-owner of a downtown Spokane pharmacy, also a WSU graduate and member of Sigma Nu, are parents of two daughters and a son, ages 4 to 10. For enjoyment Jeanne finds time to take piano lessons and be a gracious hostess in her lovely home.—CAROL TAYLOR DODDS.

Mental Health Worker

The many-faceted program of the Mental Health Assn. of Milwaukee County (Wis.) has a staunch supporter in Margaret Anderson Dickinson, Alpha Psi, Lawrence, who is also a member of the Milwaukee Theta Alumnae Chapter. Mrs. Dickinson (right in picture below) was recently given a civic citation by Dr. Cullin Burris, president of the Mental Health Assn. and head of the Milwaukee Sanitarium, honoring her as organizer of the Mental Health Assn. and for helping troubled people in the community. In addition to this, Mrs. Dickinson is charter president of the guild, a supportive organization working for mental health.

Among the mental health programs in which Mrs. Dickinson has been active are these:

Group homes. There are four of these presently, administered by the MHA and providing residential facilities for from 5 to 15 persons recently released from mental hospitals ("mentally restored"). Each such home has a house-mother who lives with the patients.

Community placement program. In this family care effort patients, released from mental hospitals, but without homes of their own or who are not ready to return home, are housed by private families. Last year 40 families gave homes to 100 such patients.

Recreation. There is a summer picnic for patients, bimonthly outings.

Money-making. Recent example: a benefit sale of paintings donated by local artists.

In all of these areas Mrs. Dickinson has contributed greatly of her time and inspiration.—CHARLOTTE FLEMING CROOKS.

Mother-Daughter Trio

Theta sisterhood and the challenge of Theta alumnae activities bind together a mother-daughter trio. Twin daughters, Alice Mantz Stoker, Beta Beta, Randolph-Macon, and Mary Mantz Griffith, Beta Iota, Colorado, claim they are "congenital" Thetas courtesy of Mary Reese Mantz, Alpha Mu, Missouri, who is also Kappa Alpha Theta parliamentarian. They claim prenatal conditioning during Mary Mantz' tenure as Kansas City's alumnae president and their arrival as twins meant a busy year for their mother, whose pet rejoinder to the usual excuse "I can't help in alumnae work because . . ." was instead, "I can, and I have twins!"

Theta membership at Randolph-Macon Woman's College for Alice and at the University of Colorado for Mary found both girls editors for their Theta chapters as well as being active in journalism, working for school yearbooks and collegiate newspapers.

Alice's alumnae work began in Kansas City. Marriage to Bob Stoker took her to other cities. She has been a member of the Iowa City, Iowa, alumnae and the Enid, Okla., club. When they transferred to Tulsa she became out-of-state rush chairman. In Oklahoma City she has just completed her term of office as 1967-68 president. Outside of Theta her activities include serving as District VIII director of Randolph-Macon Woman's College Alumnae Assn.

In Kansas City twin sister Mary Griffith is equally involved in an artistic way. Her creative Flaming Festival tables and Founders' Day decor have been an imaginative contribution to the Kansas City Alumnae Chapter.

Each sister has four children, two boys and two girls.

But what about "grandmother" Mantz—the twins' mother? The twins are proud of Mary Reese Mantz' services to Theta and her outstanding work as a parliamentarian. She became Theta parliamentarian in 1965 but prior to that has had many years in this field and is continuing in many areas besides Theta. She has instructed the Junior League of Kansas City on parliamentary law and attended a Pi Beta Phi convention for the same purpose. This past year she served as American Medical Assn. Auxiliary parliamentarian and last year she served at the American Baptist National Convention.

She formerly edited the magazine, The National Parliamentarian, was also president of the National Assn. of Parliamentarians.

As a longtime resident of Kansas City she has been president of the Kansas City Theta Alumnae Chapter and also was named their Theta-of-the-Year. She headed the 3,000 member Kansas City Woman's City Club, the Woman's Auxiliary of both the Jackson County Medical Society and the Missouri State Medical Assn., the Women's Division of the Kansas City Museum.

And it should be mentioned that besides her Theta twins she has two sons, one a Phi Gam, the other a member of Delta Tau Delta.

In 1961 Mary Mantz became president of Theta's District V, a job she held until 1965. Among her "constituents" were her Theta daughters, who also attended the district conventions. And at the 1966 Theta Grand Convention Alice was the Oklahoma City delegate while her mother served as parliamentarian.

In this day of scattered family life and many Panhellenic families, Mary Mantz and her daughters have a rare experience of Theta "togetherness" and the opportunity of putting Theta loyalty into true action.

Mary Reese Mantz, Alpha Mu, Missouri, Theta parliamentarian, with twin daughters, Mary Griffith, Beta Iota, Colorado (l.), Alice Stoker, Beta Beta, Randolph-Macon.

MEET "THE HOUSEWIVES"

If a show-business type gets married and doubles as a housewife, nobody even blinks an eyelash. But if a suburban-type housewife goes into show business . . . well, that's different.

"It has been more than three years now," says Lillian Grainger Townsend, Beta Rho, Duke, who lives in Devon, out of Philadelphia, "and I think my friends are beginning to adjust."

Lil is one-third of a professional trio. The others are Nancy Hedden Holland, also Beta Rho, and non-Theta, Jane Armstrong. All live in the Philadelphia area and were settled-down housewives before deciding to get together. The name of their group? "The Housewives."

"Well, why not?" asks Nan. "We might as well admit we aren't a teen-age rock group. We even appear on stage at first with rollers in our hair and buckets and brushes in our arms."

Lil Townsend's husband is a manufacturer's representative; they have three children aged 8 to 16. Nan Holland's husband is an executive with Westinghouse Electric; their family includes four children who range in age from 8 to 16, too.

Lillian, who originally came from Bala Cynwyd, Pa., and Nan, who originally came from Detroit, first met at Duke where they were Thetas together and where Lillian says, "We sang together originally at Theta rush parties. Many people take us for sisters—and we are—but only through Theta!" After marriage for both and some years when they only exchanged Christmas cards, they found themselves living close by and got together again. Lillian was already singing in front of women's clubs; Nan joined her.

The chairman of the music department of Chester High School was the one who urged them to go "professional." They teamed up with Jane and were on their way with their novelty act of oldtime songs. They play country clubs, industrial shows, organization sponsored parties.

"Our kids get a kick out of what we do," says Lil. Or, as Nan's 16-year-old daughter Ginny puts it, "I'm glad my mother's not normal."—Adapted from The Philadelphia Inquirer Magazine.

BE MY VALENTINE

Though Valentine's Day is a once-a-year happening for most people, it has become an everyday affair for Marcia Finley Smith, Alpha, DePauw, whose home is in South Bend, Ind.

An avid collector, Marcia has about 100 of the cards, many of them handmade and all dating from the 19th century. Since some of the cards can be expensive, she is fortunate that her husband, a partner in a real estate firm, has also taken an interest in the collection.

Intrigued with valentines for several years, Marcia was motivated to start her own collection three years ago when she read a book on their history. A classified advertisement in The South Bend Tribune yielded five well-preserved specimens, and she was on her way. Trips to antique shops, more newspaper ads and soon the collection was taking on value.

The first commercial valentines in the United States, according to Marcia, were developed in 1850 by Miss Esther Howland of Worcester, Mass., who began making and selling them on a production basis from her home with the help of girls in an assembly line. Marcia has nine of the Howland valentines, the only American examples in her collection.

Originally, according to Marcia, the lace used by Miss Howland was imported from England, where the valentine greeting card enjoyed an immense popularity around 1845. Her own collection, which includes an English card dating back to 1820, is almost entirely English.

Though she asks for "pre-1900" cards when she advertises, Marcia is interested primarily in cards made before 1870. The reason for this, she says, is that valentines made from 1870 to 1890 were generally too ornate and overdone and not as tasteful as those made in earlier periods.

One of her favorite cards is an elaborate handmade creation constructed around 1840 by an English publisher known as Mansell. Another is a Pennsylvania German handpainted woodcut made about 1820 which she found in Lancaster, Pa. This trip took her into some 50 antique shops in her search which is never-ending.—Adapted from The South Bend Tribune Magazine.

Of course, it was nice to receive a cup, but the Gamma, Butler, alumnae who participated in the Indianapolis WFBM-TV quiz show, Easy Money, were looking for just that—easy money. Not that appearing on the show, which was something like College Bowl, 5 days a week for 5 weeks and then spending 2 weeks meeting other championship groups, was easy. But the Thetas emerged 1966-67 winners, gave the cup to the Butler chapter house and divided the several hundred dollars earned between the Theta Foundation (for the Institute of Logopedics) and Gamma chapter. Shown, l. to r., team members Doris Graham Lyons, Judith Barr Hart, Phyllis Maish Vonnegut. Missing, Perky Marchall Stout.

A major interest of Alpha Pi, North Dakota, Theta, Margaret Mudgett, is dogs. This leads her to be active in Paw Prints, the humane society in Sedona, Arizona, where she operates a gift shop with Dorothy Purnell. The partners recently undertook the project of finding the owners of an unmarked boxer which wandered into Sedona. The ensuing telephone marathon, ranging over Arizona, into Utah, and finally to Denver, which turned out to be the dog's home, rated them a long feature story in the Arizona press.

If you follow the doings of the Ladies Professional Golf Assn. you will often see the name of Marilynn Smith, Kappa, Kansas, a consistent competitor, who often wins title honors. Marilynn, who was president of the LPGA in 1958-59-60, was written up in a Chicago Tribune feature recently.

How many fourth generation Thetas are there? We don't know, but here is one family. Pam and Dinah Menke, recent graduates at Beta, Indiana, claim the following Theta "chain": great-grandmother Edna Macmillan (Simison), Alpha Chi, Purdue; grandmother Glen Simison (Green), Alpha, DePauw; mother, Glee Green (Menke), also Alpha. Pam is now working on her doctorate in English at the University of North Carolina, Dinah is a model in New York City.

"Safe in Saigon" was the good news received by her family concerning Julie Villaume, Upsilon, Minnesota, former Theta Fellowship winner, who was caught in a Viet Cong attack on Da Lat, Vietnam. Julie has been in Vietnam since May 1, 1967 where she is working with the Catholic Relief Services.

A Theta from Beta Omicron, Iowa, is one of four U. S. delegates from the American Home Economics Assn. to the 11th International Congress on Home Economics in Bristol, England, this summer. She is Louise Stedman, director of the University of Minnesota's School of Home Economics. Prior to the congress she will attend the business meeting of the permanent council of the International Federation of Home Economics in London.

Another Theta who "gets around" is Dian Fossey, Gamma Xi, San Jose State. Her current bailiwick is in the wild Virunga Mountains of Ruwanda, Africa, where she is half way through a two-year study of the fast vanishing mountain gorillas for the National Geographic Society. All has not been easy. Dian's first camp was set up in the Congo. Captured by rebels during the Congolese revolution, she escaped, but lost most of her equipment.

Far afield is Mary Melby Kurtz, Alpha Pi, North Dakota, who is in Botswana. Never heard of it? It was formerly Bechuanaland, a British protectorate in Africa. Mary and her husband, Bryan, are part of a team of 59 working as the first Peace Corps personnel to serve in this newly independent African nation. Mary is teaching school on the primary level.

Linda Falvey Rowland, Alpha Theta, Texas, has garnered her honors in the U. S. A native of Austin, Texas, she has been named on this year's Best Dressed List. One of ten to achieve this she is credited in a story in the Austin American-Statesman as being able to "wear literally anything . . . has poise and personality to carry off far-out accessories and the grace to wear the elegant kind."

Jane Douglass White, Alpha Omicron, Oklahoma, is not only co-producer of a summer theater in Andover, N.J. She also writes for the theater. Two recent efforts are co-authorship of a children's musical, King Midas and the Golden Touch, and writing the music for an adult musical, Once Upon a Crime, which will have its pre-Broadway tryout this summer in her own theater, the Gristmill Musical Playhouse.

Jamaica, West Indies, is the headquarters-home of Judy Schaitberger, Beta Kappa, Drake, where she is public relations and entertainment manager for the Jamaica Hilton. She has also worked for Hilton in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Curacao.

Things should be "looking up" fiscally for the country since the new director of the U. S. Budget Bureau is a Theta husband! He is Charles J. Zwick, former Harvard economics teacher, and also a graduate of the University of Connecticut as is his Theta wife, Joan Cameron, Gamma Zeta.

The new Blevins Junior High School in Ft. Collins, Colo., is named for the Theta husband of the current president of the Theta Alumnae Chapter there, Margaret Seaton Blevins, Alpha Upsilon, Washburn. Margaret's record of 20 years teaching math at Colorado State University is about half her husband's 40 year record teaching junior high math.

The Beta Theta Pi magazine credits her as being an "able assistant." Do you suppose "Ginger" Brown Fawcett, Upsilon, Minnesota, of Minneapolis, wife of the new editor of the Beta Magazine, K. Warren Fawcett, will get her name on the masthead?

Alumni and students at the University of Missouri joined together to raise funds to provide lighting for the Francis Quadrangle Columns on campus in memory of prominent Missouri alumnus, William C. Tucker, late husband of Avis Green Tucker, Alpha Mu, Missouri.

Books By Theta Authors

Arthur Fiedler—Music For the Millions by Carol Green Wilson. Evans Publishing Co., 1968. $5.95.

All sorts of superlatives can be used when speaking of the musical career of Arthur Fiedler. At 20 he became a second violinist with, and the youngest member of, the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Boston's outdoor Esplanade Concerts, created by him in 1929, were the first to be played each summer by a major symphony orchestra, free to all. When he became conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra in 1930 he was the first Boston-born musician to lift a baton over that group.

But amid all these notable accomplishments this book shows the delightful and endearing personality of the man Arthur Fiedler—whose energy is seemingly indefatigable whether it be following musical scores or fire engines (the latter is his hobby!).

With a tradition of music in his heritage—a father and two uncles who performed with the Boston

Symphony—few men have done so much to popularize classical music, or to win conservatives to appreciation of the good in tunes that are favorites with the masses. In addition, he has been constantly eager to help talented youth.

Today, at 74, he is still active in his chosen field. Indeed, according to the book, "Retirement is an unused word in the Pops' Maestro's vocabulary."

The author has the advantage of being a personal friend of Fiedler, but a great deal of research and study were required for the book, besides several summers of attendance at Fiedler rehearsals where she relates she sat on the platform among the musicians "in order to gain intimate knowledge of Fiedler's method of conducting."

It all adds up to a fascinating story of a fascinating man.

The Author—Carol Green Wilson, Phi, Stanford, is well known to Thetas as national historian and author of We Who Wear Kites. When Arthur Fiedler was on tour in the west he wanted to learn more about

San Francisco, was referred to another of Carol's books, Gump's Treasure Trade, which tells about the city, and their friendship began.

Miss Tessie Tate by Jean Horton Berg. Westminster Press, 1967. $3.25.

This book is fun-poetry for the five-to-nine age group. And the bold, bright pictures will entrance all who read the book or are read to.

Miss Tessie Tate, though not under-30, certainly had the soul of youth. Both her vocation and avocation was roller skating and her neighbors' disapproval deterred her not a whit. Said she, "I don't care a fig if folks snicker and smile . . . Skating's something that's really worthwhile!"

How worthwhile it was was shown when the king offered "ten bags of gold and one elegant pearl" for a quiet, efficient housemaid to keep the castle clean. How Miss Tessie Tate won the prize provides a cheerful ending for a book that will certainly make you smile—and perhaps go rummaging in the attic for your old roller skates.

The Author—For a story on Jean Horton Berg, Beta Eta, Pennsylvania, turn to page 5.

Glenn L. Martin by Ruth W. Harley. Bobbs-Merrill Co., Inc., 1967. $2.50.

This book is one in the Bobbs' Childhood of Famous Americans series and is subtitled, "Boy conqueror of the air." Indeed, Glenn Martin's first attempt to conquer the air should appeal to Thetas—at the tender age of six he made and sold kites to his friends in his hometown of Liberal, Kansas.

He spent many years as an automobile mechanic before he was able to build his first airplane in an abandoned church in Santa Ana, Calif., where his family now lived. This was 1909. It was followed with "barnstorming" flights and then the establishment of his own company to build more planes.

The latter part of the book tells of later Martin accomplishments—building bombers which helped bring a U.S. victory in World War II, his clipper flying boats and his interest in rocketry. It all adds up to an adventure story of excellence.

The Author—Ruth Ann Wolfe Harley, Gamma deuteran, Ohio Wesleyan, lives in Indianapolis, Ind., where she writes special assignments for elementary textbooks and is working on another book.

Robert Frost by Ellen Cameron Wilson. Bobbs-Merrill Co., Inc., 1967. $2.50.

This book, another in Bobbs' Childhood of Famous Americans series, has the sub-title, "Boy with promises to keep." In the process of writing it the author actually went to San Francisco, where Robert Frost was born, "to explore the places where he played."

The major part of the book deals with Frost's younger years where it emerges that he always had a great imagination, that his mother, who "liked books better than brooms," read poetry to him and gave him his early schooling at home.

When his father died when Robert was ten, the family moved to Massachusetts. Except for a few years lived in England as a young married man, Frost never again left New England. Always dreaming of being a poet he had difficulty selling his poems; his first two books finally were published in England. It was long after this time, when he had returned to America, that he was finally given the unofficial title of "poet laureate" of the U.S. and his efforts were crowned in 1961 by his appearance as a revered guest at John F. Kennedy's inauguration as president.

This well written book will give young readers an understanding of what it takes to make a poet and what went into making Robert Frost.

The Author—For a story on Ellen Cameron Wilson, Gamma deuteran, Ohio Wesleyan, turn to page 7.

Especially Dogs by Gladys Taber. J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia and New York, 1968. $4.50.

In other of the Stillmeadow books (there have been at least eight) various dogs have been mentioned as being a part of the very full life that goes on in the 200-year-old farmhouse in Connecticut where Gladys Taber has made her home for more than 20 years. But in the latest volume the dogs take over. While there was only one beloved dog in the author's childhood—a male Irish setter named Timmie—as the years have worn on there has been a succession of cocker spaniels ("Thirty-five at a time," as she says in one chapter heading) in what was fondly known for awhile as the Stillmeadow Kennels. At present, a prize winning Irish bitch named Holly is Mrs. Taber's best friend and longtime companion.

The book not only abounds with warm and engrossing accounts of the author's experiences with her dogs, but also contains advice on how to care for a dog, how to show one, how to train one and other bits of doglore too numerous to mention. Dog lovers, this book is for you!

The Author—For a story on Gladys Taber, Alpha Psi, Lawrence, turn to page 6.

The Elegiac Mode by Abbie Findlay Potts. Cornell University Press, 1967. $9.00.

We have always felt that Abbie Findlay Potts was a true scholar. Now, with the publication of this book posthumously (she died in 1964), we are sure of it. This is her third volume in what she regarded as a trilogy of studies in literary form.

The book is actually a series of essays in which she surveys the poetic form known as the elegy from antiquity to the present. We learn that "Philosophical poems, set to the flute or reed are, of course, elegies in their original mode." According to Coleridge, "sorrow and love become the principal themes."

Dr. Potts, as an authority on Wordsworth, is largely concerned with tracing his influence and development in this field, which causes her to characterize the nineteenth century as "The Elegiac Century." Chapters on Hardy, Yeats and D. H. Lawrence carry the inquiry well into the twentieth century.

This is certainly a volume of great interest to poetry lovers and lovers of literature alike.

The Author—Abbie Findlay Potts, Iota, Cornell, a onetime Theta district president (1911-12), was for many years professor of literature and drama at Rockford College, Rockford, Ill.—MMKG.

K A Θ | HOUSING

Alpha Gamma—Ohio State

Alpha Gamma Thetas and their guests gathered for an official look at the new addition to the chapter house on OSU's Homecoming Day, October 28, 1967. The house, originally built in 1939 to accommodate 31, now houses 51. Construction for the three-story addition began in November 1966, and was completed in time for the opening of school, September 1967.

The first floor of the addition provides an informal living area, storage area, coat room and rest room. The second and third floors are identical, each having five study-bedrooms for two plus complete bathrooms, and connect to the existing house through a lounge.

The rubble stone exterior veneer and clay roofing tiles match the existing structure. The addition is arranged on the site to provide outside walls and windows to each room and to gain much needed parking space.

The building program was directed by Helen Zurmehly Prior, House Board, with the assistance of Jean Flanigan Clark, Advisory Board; Catherine Sharp Ingalls, Patricia Allen McKnight, House Board; and Mary Jane Allread Nice, alumnae representative (all Alpha Gamma except Jean Clark, Delta, Illinois).

Decorating was under the guidance of Barbara Koch Brentlinger, Alpha Gamma. Bedroom furniture is in traditional styling and is antiqued green with white highlights. Matching greens are used in carpet, walls and the occasional chair. The furniture in the informal living room is a formal rattan, oriental-type in oak and avocado wood. The major colors are avocado and gold, accented by red and pink in upholstered pieces and drapes. The floor itself is oak parquet. The main living areas of the older, existing house were re-carpeted in pale green to tie in with the colors in the new addition.—PATRICIA ALLEN MCKNIGHT.

K A Θ | PICTURE STORY

"THAT GIRL"

The San Diego Alumnae Chapter does not give a fashion show every year, so when they decided to do it this year they wanted to make it "extra special." They appointed an imaginative chairman, Hazel Potts Rule, who wanted a star to fill the Royal Box in the Crown Room of the Hotel del Coronado (site of Theta's 1970 Centennial Convention). Hazel knew that Tommi Lane Adelizzi and Marlo Thomas were Theta roommates at Southern California. Marlo's only question when asked: "Is this really going to benefit Theta and her philanthropy? I am working 12 and sometimes 14 hours a day, and I will gladly give up a Saturday if it is worthwhile."

The name of the fashion show was the Royal Box and there were three beneficiaries: The Institute of Logopedics through the Theta Foundation, the San Diego Women's Committee for Cerebral Palsy and the San Diego Speech and Hearing Clinic.—TOMMI LANE ADELIZZI, CDP VII.

BELOW: Marlo receives the keys to the city of San Diego.
 RIGHT: Marlo presents checks from San Diego Theta alumnae to the poster girls for the other beneficiaries of the fashion show besides the Institute—the Women's Committee for Cerebral Palsy, San Diego Speech and Hearing Clinic.

The columnist in her article questions the value of the Greek system today. A former Theta Grand President gives

A REBUTTAL

THE ARTICLE: Under the head, "Greek-Letter Clubs Survive, Which Raises Some Questions," Rene Carpenter (a sorority member, but not a Theta.—EDITOR) expressed her opinion about sororities in the newspaper, The Record, of Ridgewood, N.J. Among other comments she made these: I have been out of touch with the Greek system . . . for several years now, and my feelings about it are rather ill-defined . . . The fraternity system, as it was set up during the last century, was a symbol of erudition and companionship . . . I wonder how the Greek system fits into the scheme of things today. Does it function for any other reason than the one of status? . . . Or does the fellowship and camaraderie justify its existence? If you were elected to lead your particular group, would you use it as a tool rich in human resources?

THE REPLY: Letty Henderson Munz, Theta's Grand President, 1956-60, a resident of Ridgewood, N.J., read Rene Carpenter's article and was moved to reply, in part as follows: I would like to comment on some of your confessions. First, your reason for joining a sorority—"it was the thing to do." This is, of course, a weak reason for doing anything at all. But still, once exposed to the experience of sorority membership, it might have been possible to derive rich benefits throughout your entire life if you had allowed yourself to participate and be responsive. One gets out of life values in proportion to one's service for others. Fraternity membership is a prime example of this fact.

The principal purpose of fraternities and sororities is friendship—friendship that lasts throughout a lifetime because of the close ties and bonds of loyalty to the high ideals as set forth in the ritual. My friends throughout the country are legion, due entirely to membership in my fraternity, and my life has been truly enriched because of them.

I did not find the "pledge duties odious," as you did. Time-consuming, yes, but worthwhile for they provided self-discipline and contact with others participating in the same activity and developed a sense of sharing the responsibilities of the group. . . .

The meetings "conducted by women for women" that you say made you "restless and bored" proved to be a training ground for me for worthwhile endeavors after college. . . . The fact that I have been able to take an active part and assume leadership in so many groups, I attribute to the training in the fraternity.

You ask "how does the Greek system fit into the scheme of things today?" and I answer that there's even more need for it today than when it first came into being in 1776 when Phi Beta Kappa was founded. Fraternities and sororities have more requests for the establishment of new chapters than they can consider. College growth has also brought fraternity growth.

The president of one of our universities, in a letter to the parents of prospective students, wrote this about it: "A very real part of university life is our fraternity system. The sororities represent a wonderful spirit of sisterhood and an opportunity for growing responsibility in the life of each young woman. They also represent a strong, dynamic influence for good scholarship and exemplary conduct. They provide an education outside the classroom which is valuable and aids materially in the individual's development." This statement seems to answer very emphatically your question, "does it function for any other reason than the one of status?"

Association with others of similar ideals and backgrounds helps one to grow spiritually, intellectually and socially. Learning to submerge personal desires for the greater good of the chapter is excellent training for good citizenship in the larger world of alumnæ days. Loyalty to one's self, one's family, one's church, one's country is the cornerstone of a happy life and nowhere is loyalty stressed to a greater degree than in the fraternity. Such an influence is badly needed in the world today and lucky the young person who has the hand of friendship extended through fraternity experience!

FUN AND GAMES

—a Winning Formula for LINK

from Winter Park Alumnae

With a relaxing, summertime game of bridge you can start your 1968-69 membership campaign for LINK. Alumnae groups need not wait until Fall for their activities to encourage memberships in LINK. Nearly everyone enjoys playing bridge and the Winter Park Thetas have increased their fun and conducted a successful membership drive for the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation at the same time.

The plan works this way: a Theta hostess entertains at bridge—one table or several if she chooses. Each player pays $1.00 for each bridge session she plays. An interested Theta volunteer keeps a record of the names and of each $1.00 given.

When a player has contributed $10.00 having played ten afternoons, her Participating Membership donation is sent with her membership card to LINK—and presto, there is a new member contributing to LINK's growing endeavors.

The Winter Park ladies usually served lunch (donated by the hostess) but any number of variations in the plan could be fun and a great boost to LINK.

This membership coupon below is just waiting for your check and your signature. Please forward it today. The many scholarship winners and children at the Institute of Logopedics who have received LINK's help thank you.

TESTING UNTESTABLES

LINK

Testing is an important tool in our modern world. Nowhere is it more important than in the field of the communicatively handicapped who, in times past, have often had the doors of opportunity forever closed to them because of an erroneous diagnosis that their cases were "hopeless."

The fact is that one child out of 20 cannot communicate with his fellow man. Indeed, this child might even be yours, for damage to the central nervous system is seldom hereditary, rather is the result of accident which may occur before or during birth, or, even later in life.

A pioneering organization in working with these problems, even the Institute of Logopedics, Theta's national philanthropy, finds instances where testing children with suspected hearing loss, and consequent inability to speak, is inconclusive, even with the highly sophisticated auditory testing equipment available. These children have been labeled, for want of a better term, "untestable," and for this reason they have been unable to receive maximum benefits from the accepted techniques of amplification, auditory training and speech reading.

This is the field, working with the untestables, that has been the major interest and effort of Judith Bormann, staff audiologist, the recipient of Kappa Alpha Theta's Martin F. Palmer Research Fellowship.

First Miss Bormann decided to try a modified version of "operant conditioning" which would allow the child to select his own reward upon correct response and performance. For this she used a machine programmed to a set schedule of stimulus and reward. Although a few of these children did perform in this situation, the human factor of individual reaction or response time proved to be a problem with the majority. So the use of the machine was discarded.

Still, Miss Bormann felt she was on the right track. She continued to investigate results of the reward technique but with a more simplified method. By interviews with each child's Logopedist, housemother, parents, special education teachers, little friends—all persons with whom the child had intimate association—she determined the item which would be most appealing to each child and once again began the testing of untestables.

This time she was successful, receiving good response through a non-scheduled, uncluttered reward procedure which can often be used by knowledgeable clinicians on short notice in place of more complex and much more extensive and often unavailable equipment. Such a technique may also possibly be used later in larger research efforts which will open further doors to those who cannot speak, as these hitherto untestable children are given early and correct evaluation of their needs.

*Almost one hundred—still going strong,
Theta's going to need a song
Her centennial to celebrate
Her achievements to commemorate.
A brand new song never heard before,
A lovely song filled with Theta lore,
A song to make the rafters ring
Wherever Thetas want to sing.*

K A Θ needs a Centennial Song to be used at Founders' Day 1970 and at Centennial Convention in June. So come on, all you talented Thetas; compose a song and send it as soon as possible. The deadline for entries is June 1969. Do it now! There will be a prize for the winning song, to be announced in the KAPPA ALPHA THETA MAGAZINE, Winter Issue, 1969-70. Send to:

Kappa Alpha Theta's Straight "A" Students

"The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher."—THOMAS HENRY HUXLEY.

Silver scholarship charms (see picture) were awarded by the fraternity to the Thetas whose names are starred who made a straight "A" record for the entire 1966-67 school year. Others listed made straight "A" for a semester or two consecutive terms.

What Has Happened To LEGACIES?

Legacies have multiplied, says Theta Grand President Jinny Edwards, in fact, to such an extent that all Theta alumnae must realize the tremendous odds against all Theta daughters themselves becoming Thetas. However, mothers who instill in their daughters the value of the fraternity system can help these same daughters look kindly toward our "friendly rivals" and to find joy in a fraternity choice, should it of necessity be other than Theta.

◆ 1870-1968. Just 98 years ago the first Theta was pledged. Allowing 25 years to a generation, there have been four generations since then. Multiply one by 93, plus the chapters that are extinct, and we have had more than 100 Theta chapters through the years. Of our 60,000 Thetas, only approximately 10,000 are collegiate members and a larger percentage of the rest have daughters.

Surely every Theta who has had a daughter and who remembers her own happy experience as a member wishes her daughter might have that happiness, too. But realistic numbers show us that this is an impossibility. Part of the great value of a fraternity lies in small group living. Increased enrollments, status quo of the size of chapters, necessary care for the establishment of new chapters, cost of housing limit the number of girls any chapter can pledge. The overwhelming number of second, third and even fourth generations of Thetas makes it impossible to pledge every legacy and on many campuses rules of the administration prohibit the possibility of inviting each one of them to a party.

What can we do about it?

Every mother can teach her daughter the value of the fraternity system. She can tell her how much she loved her own fraternity and how much it would mean to her to have her daughter belong to her fraternity if the opportunity presents itself. Along with this she can apprise her of the current conditions and of the respect in which we hold our friendly rivals. She can explain to her that fraternity membership is a two-way choice, both the fraternity and the rushee have a choice. What really counts is how much one loves the pin one chooses to wear. What lasts a lifetime is commitment and loyalty to the group of one's choice.

What can college chapters do?

While fraternity membership cannot be inherited, good manners, appreciation of alumnae, consideration of daughters as well as sisters can be a part of our fraternity and every chapter should extend courtesy and make an effort to know each legacy. No, membership cannot be inherited, but the loyalty learned in a fraternity family exceeds all bonds. Let us cherish this. Let us all recognize our limitations and our possibilities.

Courtesy Hartford Courant

Frankly, your editor fell in love with this picture, which however, fits in only with a Summer magazine, not Winter, when most alumnae news is printed! So here 'tis to make you envious of the Hartford Thetas who gave a sailing party for their husbands. Patricia Nelson Foulke and her husband (at right) were hosts. From left, Charlotte Pennington Telgener, Ann Royer Lau and Jim Gilbert (husband of Barbara Bosst) listen to Robert Foulke's sailing instructions for racers. No word as to whether anyone raced.

Job Reprints Available

Not long ago the KAPPA ALPHA THETA MAGAZINE printed an excellent symposium on How To Get a Job which was reprinted and used by colleges and employment offices over the country for distribution to prospective job hunters. A search of Central Office files reveals that there are a couple of hundred of these reprints still available—first come first serve for any who wish to request a free copy or copies.

So, write for your reprint of How To Get a Job today. The material is useful for all ages. It applies to June graduates 1968, also to those of you who were June graduates of oughty-ought.

New Baird's Manual

In 1957 there were 3,740 chapters of men's national fraternities; in 1963 there were 4,092 chapters; in 1967 there were 4,493.

NPC chapters in 1957 totaled 2,125; in 1963 the total stood at 2,048; in 1967 there were 2,267 chapters.

Today there are 1,040 universities where there are fraternity chapters whereas in 1963 there were only 915.

There are 629 colleges with fraternities, as compared to 497 in 1963.

If such facts intrigue and interest you, buy the 18th edition of Baird's Manual, "the encyclopedia of the fraternity world," just off the press. John Robson, Sigma Phi Epsilon, edited both the 17th (1963) and the current 18th edition of this fraternity manual. It contains 905 pages, lists all Greek letter groups—social, professional and honor societies—also lists 3,000 Greek-letter men and women of prominence, both living and dead. Cost: $9.00 per copy postpaid, with discount rates available on large orders, George Banta Co., Menasha, Wis.

Phi Gamma Delta Speaks

It has always been the policy of Phi Gamma Delta that chapters should accede to the rules of the sheltering institution and we do not condone any violation of these rules. We are now faced with a growing number of colleges where there are literally no rules. Under these circumstances our Fraternity does not abdicate what it feels is its responsibility toward its members. . . .

No matter what attitude the colleges may have, Phi Gamma Delta is going to clean up its own houses. In this I ask the help of all our parents and the officials of the Fraternity. I want to assure our entire membership that any concrete evidence of immorality or the use of pot in any of our houses will be dealt with summarily by suspension of the chapter and possible expulsion. I have devoted a great portion of my life to Phi Gamma Delta in the belief that we can be a good and great influence on college youth. I still believe this. If a chapter becomes a bad influence on our members, then it is high time that we quit the campus. Our ritual admonishes us that we are indeed our brother's keeper.—DANNER LEE MAHOOD, National president of Phi Gamma Delta, in the February 1968 magazine, The Phi Gamma Delta.

Help! Help! Help Wanted

We need a new book reviewer for the Theta Magazine. Who wants to volunteer?

Theta Lips Are Smiling

◆ Perhaps Maryland Thetas and SAE's were over-ambitious when they made a Disneyland papier-mâché float over 30 feet tall. The magic mountain proved too heavy for itself (it collapsed on itself) and left Thetas and SAE's only with memories and an unprecedented honorable mention for their ambitious entry in the homecoming contest.

◆ Ambitious Thetas at Georgia were hopeful of Mortar Board tapping, accomplished by Mortar Boards visiting the house during the night, singing and wakening the new members. But this night it was different. Every room in the house was visited by a long line of singing girls and the song was not a Mortar Board chant but My Theta Man. Indeed, it turned out to be the sophomore Thetas, tapping their Theta sisters in the early dawn of April 1st as "April Fools!"

◆ Houseboys, particularly new ones, are ambitious to do a good job. The new Sigma Chi waiter for Montana Thetas was no exception. Thetas could tell he was nervous as he served his first dinner. Everything went fine until dessert, then as he carried in his first two plates of cake, one piece rolled off onto the floor. Not noticing, he blithely served one girl an empty plate. Montana Thetas roared with sympathetic laughter—but he didn't mind! It broke the tension and he is still working at the Theta house, a favorite of all!

INTRODUCING

Carol Hartmann Anderson

College President, District VI—Carol Hartmann Anderson, Radnor, Pa. Has stayed in Pennsylvania since graduation from University of Pennsylvania . . . Member of Beta Eta, Pennsylvania, chapter of Theta, where served as collegiate president . . . Carried Theta interests into Philadelphia Alumnae Chapter where served in jobs of corresponding secretary, assistant benefit chairman, also Founders' Day chairman . . . Continued to work for Beta Eta as rush adviser for a year and Advisory Board chairman for four years . . . Active outside of Theta in Junior League . . . Teaches Sunday School . . . Also finds time to work part-time as a dental assistant . . . Spare time and hobby occupations are knitting, gardening, swimming . . . Is divorced and has a five-year-old son . . . Looks forward to working with collegiate Thetas in District VI sharing with them a youthful viewpoint and interest in chapter problems.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE OF RUSH RECOMMENDATION DIRECTORY 1968-1969

The Rush Directory lists Rush Recommendation Boards by state. It also contains a list of college chapter rush chairmen and rush advisers, names and addresses of State and Province Chairmen and Alumnae District Presidents. As available, lists of Authorized Rush Representatives will be sent to college rush chairmen and to Rush Recommendation Boards, upon request.

ALUMNAE—Send your recommendations on authorized white rush blank or the printed form on page 52 with attached letter to the Rush Recommendation Board serving the area in which your prospective rushee lives. If there is no Rush Recommendation Board in that area, send the completed rush blank to the college chapter rush chairman.

Voluntary recommendations made by you as soon as possible are most valuable to Rush Recommendation Boards and to college chapters.

COLLEGE CHAPTERS—Green sheets from Rush Boards must be accompanied by a completed white rush blank. Recommendations from Authorized Rush Representatives will be on white rush blanks with pink slip attached.

If you must solicit a recommendation for a rushee, a request should be directed to the person listed for her town in the Directory or in the mimeographed listing of Authorized Rush Representatives which the chapter has received from Central Office. If there is no one listed, use form provided in chapter supplies to request names of alumnae in the area from the State or Province Chairman. If you receive no reply in a reasonable length of time, contact the Alumnae District President through your rush adviser.

TIMING—Recommendations should be submitted to college chapters by August 1 for schools with fall rush and September 15 for schools with deferred rush. In Rush Recommendation Board towns and cities, individuals should submit white blank recommendations before July 1 so that they may be processed.

Complete cooperation among individual alumnae, Rush Recommendation Boards and college chapters is necessary to guarantee the smooth operation of our recommendation procedures. All Thetas share the desire to select the best qualified rushees as members of our fraternity. It is the privilege of alumnae to recommend qualified rushees; it is the privilege of college chapters to select from among those recommended to them.

Rush Recommendation Directory—1968-1969

College chapters requiring the names of alumnae who reside abroad for recommendation purposes, or seeking recommendations for rushees with A.P.O. addresses, should contact Mrs. David Bland, 2354 Timber Lane, Houston, Texas 77027

CHAPTER LETTERS

There may be no Van Gogh in this picture, but don't underestimate the skill and talent of these painters, to say nothing of their enthusiasm! Ask those on the staff of the Children's Psychiatric Research Institute in London, Ontario, Canada. They will tell you that these were Thetas (and friends) from Western Ontario who pitched in to put needed paint on the Institute's underground tunnel as a part of the U. W. O.'s Greek Week.

College Chapter Letters

We always feel grateful to our chapter editors for sending the chapter letters. So once again we say "thank you" to the 79 editors who responded for this issue. Somehow the letters seemed easier to edit this time than previously; whether this is because they are better written, need less cutting in length or because we are getting to be such an "old hand" at handling them, we don't know. But for the most part they were in good shape, typed to width and remaining within the 200-word limit.

Early bird chapters in order of submission ahead of the deadline were 1. Albion 2. Oklahoma 3. Hanover 4. Kansas 5. Texas. While commending these we would also like to commend the editors at Arkansas and Oregon for what we regard as especially clear and concise writing in their respective letters.

Fourteen chapters are not represented here. We wonder why! Editors from the following chapters did not submit letters: California-Los Angeles, Colorado, Colorado State, Emory, Fresno State, Lawrence, Miami, Montana, North Dakota State, Ohio State, San Jose State, Southern California, Vermont, Wisconsin.

ALABAMA

Delta Omicron

Being part of a new Theta chapter is an exciting learning experience—as 62 Alabama girls can testify. The pledge class of 35 made us proud of our quantity and quality. Their skit and float in the homecoming parade with the theme of Intensified Tide was the photographers' favorite, and our guillotine at the Auburn Pep Rally with the slogan, De-tailing de Tiger, was a show stopper. Three Thetas were homecoming semi-finalists and our pledge education chairman, Linda Squiteri, was one of the top 10 finalists.

The gala winter affair was our pledge formal. Pledge class swaps and coffees with fraternities as well as our spring dance made for a full social calendar.

Many Thetas made a mark in campus activities, and we were especially excited for our Freshman Council member and budding actress, Helen Edwards, whose leading part in Tennessee Williams' Camino Real was a treat to see. We were also pleased for Alpha Lambda Delta member, Sharon McWhirter, and Panhellenic rush procedures chairman, Sharon Scott.

Being part of a brand new Theta chapter is a very unique feeling. With the long heritage of Kappa Alpha Theta behind us, we too feel as though we are building a heritage for ourselves. We are looking forward to seeing that Delta Omicron link added to the Theta chain at Grand Convention. SUE CRIDER

During rush, we couldn't help but miss our sisters who were miles away—two were in Australia, several were in Europe, one was with CUSO in Africa. However, we soon had 24 extra-great pledges to round out our group. They immediately held a shipwreck party, an open house, and a friendship shower for the Institute of Logopedics.

Before the official functions of the year came to a close with initiation, elections, a formal and a big and little sister party, several Thetas had distinguished themselves. We had in our midst Miss IFC, Laurie Brennan; OX Dream Girl, Carolyn Farmilo; Commerce Queen, Diane Heatherington; Engineers' Queen, Valerie Richter. Our president, Beth Rudolph, already a Gold Key member, organized both Treasure Van and Varsity Guest Weekend. Barb Simpson was in Harrisburg with the Canadian Equestrienne Team and will go to Europe with them next winter.

Jerene Rutherford's visit was the highlight of the year. After plaguing her with questions regarding the differences between Canadian and American chapters we decided that Thetas are Thetas are Thetas. So next fall when again we miss girls who have gone away, we'll remember this. It takes more than miles to break a bond of sisterhood. ALAS! AUTHOR UNKNOWN

ALBION

Pi

Allow Pi to brag for a minute because we are proud of our chapter. Last fall, Pi was honored when Theta was represented by five out of seven girls on the homecoming court and at the head of the court was a Theta—the queen of the festivities.

Also last fall, we pledged an enthusiastic group of girls who have done wonders in sparking up the group. Some of their activities included making songbooks for all the actives and planning a scavenger hunt.

Just prior to Christmas, we had a tremendous group of voices from Pi competing in the all Greek women song fest.

At Christmas time we joined with a fraternity on campus and gave the underprivileged children in Albion a party. Also, we had a party with our alumnae from Jackson.

Our advisers who continue their help and guidance will be forever remembered and appreciated by Pi girls. Mrs. Green has been our "right arm" and Mrs. Lehman has added much to our fun and work in Pi.

All this and much more make us proud to be members of Pi chapter. SARAH YENNER

Mu

Mu chapter began the year with its annual trip to the Theta cottage on Lake Erie in Van Buren, New York, and the fun has continued all year long.

In October, 14 pledges were initiated and we couldn't be prouder of this great bunch of girls. Also in October, Theta dads enjoyed a delicious meal and a lively time at the fathers' banquet, and homecoming at Allegheny proved to be one of the best yet, with Thetas as four out of five candidates.

In November we mixed fun with hard work at our informal fall party during the annual can drive which provided Thanksgiving dinners for many needy families.

As usual, Thetas enjoyed Christmas festivities together and then started the new year with a bang at our winter party which we held with the Kappas.

Karen Culler and Linda Kyper represented us on the Greek Goddess court and Karen did a wonderful job as song leader for Greek Sing, where we sang her own arrangement of Lara's Theme from Dr. Zhivago.

Other events included the initiation of five more tremendous pledges and a good showing of sisters who were accepted into Angel Flight, to add to the already outstanding number of sisters in the flight.

We are also continuing our support of Hae Soon, our Korean war orphan, with whom we correspond weekly.

Altogether it has been a great year for Mu chapter, and with enthusiasm continuing, we are looking forward to another one.

CATHERINE MACLAY

A Theta, Linda Roe, was Albion's 1967 Homecoming Queen.

ARIZONA

Beta Delta

The Beta Delta chapter began an exciting year when we returned from vacations to find our rooms newly redecorated. Our enthusiasm seemed to grow during rush as we pledged 27 top campus rushees.

This year marked our fiftieth anniversary on the U of A campus. We celebrated this event on the homecoming weekend, and alumnae were welcomed back at a reception at the house and at a banquet where Theta alumna met Theta active. Our homecoming decoration carried the motto, Half a Century of Thetas. The design, which won second place in the competition, was later made into a mosaic which was presented to the chapter by the 1967 pledge class.

This year the Thetas had a local philanthropy, the Girls' Living Centers. Volunteers from the chapter shared many enjoyable afternoons with the girls, and they were rewarded with the feeling of having done something truly worthwhile.

There was no shortage of beauties at Beta Delta. Ramona Coulson was chosen Miss U of A, for the second consecutive year that a Theta has held the title. Fraternity sweethearts and attendants to queens were all part of Theta's campus recognition.

At our Founders' Day banquet, the Beta Deltas continued the tradition of celebrating the day with our sisters at Arizona State, the Delta Epsilon chapter. Many of the fifty-year awards were given to our chapter founders.

The social activities of the year were balanced by service and scholastic effort.

Delta Epsilon

Delta Epsilon buzzed with spirit and activity during the 1967-68 college year. Our first exciting honor was a scholarship trophy awarded for highest over-all chapter grade-average. Thetas had a 3.01! We also showed spirit by participating in various campus sponsored activities such as homecoming, Derby Day, Black-Foot White-Foot and Greek Week. For homecoming we teamed up with the Phi Gams to build a float (and a good relationship). In the spring we harmonized with Alpha Tau Omega for Greek Sing.

Within the chapter we also maintained a lot of activity. The year began with a real hoedown barn dance which we co-hostessed with Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Our traditional Christmas formal was held at the Moon Valley Country Club. In February we shared our Founders' Day banquet with Beta Delta chapter from the University of Arizona. This banquet gave us a chance to trade rush secrets, standards goals, skits and songs. Finally the perfect end to another fun and successful year of sisterhood was the annual spring party where we chose our Theta Man.

Orange flowers twined up the staircase into brightly curtained rooms as thread and tissue paper were briskly creased in a gay and creative second rush for Delta Nu.

Needles and scissors clipped again as the Big Sisters bought bolts of yellow flannel to deck their pledge friends in gold and black night robes, only to be greeted by bulletin boards of every design which mysteriously appeared as gifts of those friends!

Needled greenery brought December in with plans for our first alumnae tea in honor of Thetas throughout the state; a tea served with our delicate new china and silver trays.

The thoughtful blue flames of winter fires were reflected by Theta listeners as controversial speakers or talk-ins were planned for week night firesides.

A friendly fireside was the basis for an hilarious Christmas party also, including a personal visit from Santa to bring stockings filled with everything from marbles to model airplanes.

The year's activities all held their own shades of meaning for us, but all have bound our chapter together under the sign for our new house given by our fall pledges—a rainbow of delight in a black and gold K A Θ.

One of the most important projects on the Auburn University campus is the annual All-Campus Fund Drive. The proceeds go to the state mental institutions, the American Cancer Society, Care, USO and many other worthy organizations. All fraternities, sororities and independent groups compete to raise the most money. Various projects are held throughout the week of fund raising. This year Thetas won first place among the sororities and also won the campus-wide competition, raising $1,529.58. With more than 50 groups participating, Thetas raised about 17% of the total money collected. The joint effort of the entire chapter made this accomplishment possible.

Two elements sum up the success of this venture—hard work and loyalty. I have never seen the chapter so organized and so devoted. Members sold tickets to the Fund Drive Carnival and to the Theta Chi-Sigma Nu Charity Bowl Game. Theta Dianne Gomillion was named Charity Bowl Queen for 1967-68. Thetas worked up a three-act dance routine which proved to be one of the main attractions at the carnival. Also a four-day Harem-Scarem Auction was held at the Union Building. The chapter was presented with a new color TV and a huge trophy for its efforts. Each Theta was filled with pride and happiness that exciting, winning night.

Gamma Lambda

Gamma Lambda started another school year with 27 of 50 actives on campus. The 23 girls not present could be found in Spain, France, Germany and all over the United States studying, on vacation or on Field Terms.

The term went quickly as we prepared our act for Buc Follies, the annual campus variety show, participated in homecoming activities, held our Roaring 20's informal dance, and met the freshman women at the many open houses held throughout the semester. Three new pledges increased our numbers and, before we knew it, Christmas was near as were final exams. Our Christmas party was the last meeting of the term and we said farewell to three graduating seniors and the many Thetas leaving for France, Boston, New York, Los Angeles or wherever their plans were taking them.

With the winter term came formal rush and we welcomed 16 new pledges. Never a dull moment, however, with chapter house activities, getting acquainted with our new pledges, sorority formals, and working on a Campus Carnival booth for the benefit of local charities. This semester's end brings sad good-byes, anticipation of an exciting summer and the return of many long lost Thetas.

We were all surprised to return in September to find that our room had been beautifully remodelled. We began the year by pledging 15 fabulous girls, after which we had a big and little sister banquet. Early one morning in October, the pledges were taken by their big sisters to our kidnap breakfast. November was a busy month, with the annual Pledges on Parade, our mother and daughter tea, and the pledge party with a psychedelic theme. Our pledges represented the sorority very well by singing at the Kappa Sigma breakfast. The busy whirl of events finished at the end of November with our Christmas party.

After exams and a well-deserved holiday, we had our initiation. January also included Mardi Gras, in which we were proud of our queen candidate, Wendy Foster. In February, Dutch Klutch was held and Good kites fly "high." Take the one Marrin Fitton, Arkansas, flew for initiation 1967; it flew out of the picture!

March included our Founders' Day banquet and the annual song fest. A very successful year was brought to a close with the spring formal. For our philanthropy this year, we chose to adopt a child overseas. Having learned so much about the meaning of sisterhood, we are all looking forward to another great year.

With a new Wizard of Oz theme and our own Dorothy singing a Theta version of Somewhere Over the Rainbow, Gamma chapter initiated a new preference night skit for our September rush of 1967. On September 13 we joined our 24 new pledges, who made a Grade A two dozen, for the annual Panhellenic banquet. Two big events of the evening were the presentations of the Sigma Chi Trophy and Scholarship Cup. We were the proud recipient of both awards. Butler University also presented us with the Merit Trophy for the most outstanding organization on campus.

Our chapter president, Diane Meyer, reigned as Homecoming Queen and sister Karen Dietz was chosen first runner-up of the Drift beauty pageant. Next came the Phi Kappa Theta tree-trim at which time it was announced that Thetas were first in the mental health drive and second in the Goodwill cheer drive.

Mary Young was chosen as Sigma Chi Favorite and Susie Guetel became Delta Tau Delta's sweetheart.

Added to this we had our annual orphans' Christmas party, participated in buying gifts for a campus March for G.I.'s, worked at the polls on election day and joined in the March of Dimes campaign.

There's no denying our 30 pledges are tops! We certainly were proud the night of presents when friends and relatives gathered to meet them. Excitement grew as the night of the pledge dance approached. The masquerade ball was an evening all will remember.

As the football season approached Omega Thetas began training rigorously to gain back the title of powder-puff champs, held for the previous two years. All the efforts were rewarded and we came out on top again with an unbeaten season. A football banquet and party celebrated our victory and gave all a chance to thank our coaches, the men of Delta Tau Delta. The Christmas season was filled with the anticipation of vacation and fun. Christmas dinner at the house was followed by Santa distributing gifts to all.

Omega Thetas can boast of brains and beauty as well as brawn. A finalist for Sweetheart of Sigma Chi and Rose Queen matched our overall scholastic improvement. Thetas were active on campus—Oski Dolls, Cal Prep counselors, members of Prytanean, Panile and AWS president, as well as in the community working enthusiastically as volunteers for tutorial projects in the bay area. Our symphony box provided many with midweek cultural enjoyment.

The spring held many surprises along with the traditional activities such as the father-daughter banquet, the mother-daughter fashion show and the spring formal.

Gamma Rho

After ushering in the new school year with a most successful rush and a pledge class of 30 exceptional girls, Gamma Rho soon found itself once again busy with scholastic, social and community activities. Both pledge and active support of UCSB was shown in Nan Carter, as head song girl, and Patty Davies and three pledges heading up the frosh cheering squad. In student government, too, Thetas were to be found. Once again furnishing the A.S. president with a secretary, we also had girls chairmaning such diversified committees as Camp Conestoga, personnel, and parent orientation. A veteran of this field, Kendy Kasell, spent the year touring the west as Rainbow Grand Worthy Advisor.

First quarter brought with it a round of fraternity functions, active-pledge activities, but the highlight was our participation in the homecoming parade with Sigma Alpha Epsilon as a Spanish Equestrian Unit, complete with wooden horses. Then, to end the quarter in the holiday spirit, there was our traditional Christmas formal.

Founders' Day luncheon began the second quarter. Following close on its heels was Greek Week, with its many varied functions, including work projects, symposiums and guest speakers.

And with a spring quarter filled by Spring Sing, our traditional Dads' Day picnic, a rousing Sigma Chi Derby Day and our spring formal, Gamma Rho could certainly look back on quite a busy and exciting year.

Gamma Theta

Probably the biggest weekend on Carnegie's campus, Spring Carnival 1967, saw the honoring of the Gamma Theta chapter with two very important trophies. Theta took a first place trophy in the sorority competition of Queen Skit Presentation. Our skit, which was directed by Jody Harlan, presented our president, Becky Smith, as Pandora, and she opened her box of campus evils which were in reality 20 singing and dancing Thetas.

Crowning the same weekend with another trophy, the 1966-67 pledge class earned the Sorority Pledge Scholarship Trophy which signifies the highest factor average of any of the sororities on the campus. Most important, this trophy exemplifies the true Theta ideal of excellence of scholastic achievement. Surely this was Kappa Alpha Theta weekend!

Somewhat earlier than this the Gamma Thetas also won the Greek Sing first place trophy for the second year in a row. They sang Cantate Domino by Hans Leo Hassler and Sewing Girls by Hector Villa-Lobos. The greatest joy of all was the comment of one of the judges who said, "Marvelous! You make music."

OMEGA CHAPTER at Berkeley has chosen Dale Matsui as the outstanding senior 1967-68. As vice-president-efficiency chairman she has performed above and beyond the call of the varied duties that this office requires. She has also given so much of her time to house activities, while remaining active on campus.

Serving as Oski Doll treasurer as a sophomore, she now is a permanent member. She has served as sorority representative on the ASUC Senate. As a member of the Panhellenic Executive Board, the Associated Students Board, the Student Advisory Committee to the Centennial Fund, Prytanean and Little Sister of Phi Kappa Sigma, Dale has led a varied and active college life. She was also selected Queen of the Nisei Students Club.

All these accomplishments combined to gain her a bid for Panhellenic Girl of the Year. Now plans for a June wedding occupy her time. We wonder how she does it! Dale's enthusiasm and sincerity have never failed.

to hold first place on campus. Later in the quarter we pledged two new girls during open rush.

Homecoming brought much excitement this year. Sailing the Thetas onward to first place in the float contest was our Mississippi Riverboat. Cindy Hodell brought joy to the chapter by taking her place on homecoming court.

October found us hunting our "longjohns" and packing up our tents for a cold winter's night at Camp Lenmary in Indiana for our annual retreat. The pledges particularly enjoyed the retreat as they wandered through the woods following strings which led to their Theta mothers.

First on the 1968 social calendar was the winter formal held in January. It started off with dinner and was highlighted by the presentation of the 1967 pledge class.

January also found old and new Thetas getting together once again to renew friendships and share memories at the Founders' Day banquet.

Alpha Tau was a part of Operation Helpmate where we gathered various objects together for the men in Vietnam. Several of the girls corresponded with the servicemen.

Beta Omega

Full and rewarding was 1967-68 for Beta Omega. The year started out in full swing with the addition of three dynamic and highly diversified upperclass pledges. Soon afterward we held our annual workshop in picturesque Green Mountain Falls in preparation for deferred rush which brought us 22 top pledges.

Homecoming this year was again worth all the hard work when our giant black and gold octopus was awarded second place in the all Greek competition. No less exciting was our success in the Sigma Chi Derby Days which marked us first among the sororities. Held in conjunction with the D.G.'s was a gypsy-pirate party at the Old Colony, and together with the Phi Gams we thoroughly enjoyed and received much satisfaction from giving our annual orphan party. In addition, this year our chapter adopted a volunteer project which involved working with children at the Deaf and Blind School of Colorado.

Our monthly dinners included such speakers as a palm reader and a Nigerian student who amazed us all with his African cooking.

Second semester highlights included Winter Carnival, Greek Weekend, the college song fest, the Theta Man dance and the Kite and Key spring formal which proved to round off another very exciting year.

Gamma Zeta

1967-68 was a year of beauty for Gamma Zeta. Returning from Atlantic City with our Miss Connecticut, Diane Bylo, we continued in the tradition with Joan Gwara reigning as Sigma Chi Derby Day Queen and Sue Mackey in the Winter Skol court. Beauty, surface and inner, also dominated in our pledge classes of 12 and 17.

Not only beauty, but also ambition was displayed. Three Theta class officers and a senator dominated politics while a Theta cheerleader led the UConn spirit. Spirit was also high as we captured the Derby Day Spirit Trophy and an overall award for our efforts on that day. Our fall pledge class won a Panhel song contest with their Panhel song. Thetas were also active in intramurals and captured first place in a swim meet. Ambition in scholarship was shown by house improvement and faculty relations were reinforced at our faculty coffee.

We also strengthened Theta bonds as we welcomed Mrs. Kenneth Ladd, CDP, and Jerene Rutherford, traveling secretary. The senior class was enthusiastic as we met our big sisters from the Hartford Alumnae Chapter at the senior service. A highlight of the year was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of our founding with a reunion welcoming many alumnae with a dinner and a ceremony which surely joined "the old with the new."

Beta Tau

The Denison Thetas have come out first again in every phase of sorority and campus life. The new three-week deferred rush system didn't phase us. We secured 26 marvelous new pledges. For their pledge project they joined with the Sigma Chi pledges to give a tobogganing and snowball party for orphans from the Newark, Ohio, children's home.

We now have five Phi Beta Kappas! Thetas Sue Grossnickle and Jeanne Marquardt serve the University as junior advisers who live in the freshman dorm as counselors.

With a chapter of not only brains, but beauty, Sue Watson, who has recently taken over the Denison Panhellenic presidency, followed in the footsteps of Jeanne Swickard, last year's queen, by becoming our homecoming runner-up.

Dads' Day is always a unique time of year for us. This year's was no exception when Pam Puerner, our president, and her father gave speeches, the seniors read poems to their fathers, and the pledge class entertained all of us.

We had a snowy Christmas dinner for our dates.

Where there's a will there's a way. Finding the way to make money was the will of Denison Thetas. Bonnie Vernon thus was able to give Todd Riddell, chairman of the University's Bonds of Friendship Drive, $350. Denison Thetas gave $360 to the Theta Foundation for Logopedics.

Christmas also brought our annual caroling for the campus fraternities and men's dorms. Being invited into the University president's home for refreshments, more caroling and picture-taking was a nice surprise.

An additional highlight of the first semester was a delightful and rewarding visit paid to us by our district president, Mrs. George Tarbutton.

The twinkling eyes and bright smile of Viola Wagner, 1967-68 president of California-Santa Barbara's chapter carried Theta's friendly spirit to this faraway country. Vi was selected after ten weeks of intensive training to become a part of a seven member team engaged in a cultural exchange program called Project Pakistan.

Her selection was based on her success in the training program and even more so on her radiant personality which gave her the ability to communicate wonderfully with the students she met during the summer of 1967.

Among Vi's past activities are Frosh Camp counselor, hall float chairman for homecoming, hall president, Theta social chairman and Theta homecoming float chairman. Considering all these activities, plus the tremendous amount of time necessary for her training, Vi showed herself enthusiastic and a great example for all Thetas!

In addition, our Old Gold Day Queen was recognized by Seventeen magazine as an Outstanding Teenager of America. October brought the pledge dance which was decorated on an Oriental theme. We enjoyed exchanging songs and traditions when the Miami of Ohio Theta pledges visited for a weekend in November. Following the Christmas holidays our chapter settled down to a week of final exams after which four more sisters departed for studies abroad. House elections and initiation week kept us busy in February. Through various fund-raising activities we succeeded in winning the all-campus charity drive. During DePauw's Winter Weekend we gave a banquet for our dates, and later that evening attended a Four Tops concert. We are all looking forward to the convention at Mackinac and hope to meet many new Theta friends.

This school year has certainly been a busy one for us at Beta Kappa chapter. Many honors were received, new traditions started and old ones continued.

Our annual overnight retreat at Bar-B Ranch was a smashing success with the pledge mother ceremony held at the lake's edge.

And to top off an exciting weekend, after many hours of hard work, the Thetas accepted second place for house decorations.

Then came Greek Week, Sweetheart Sing and the Christmas formal, where each Theta presented her date with a stocking decorated and filled with presents especially for him. Jack Mendrys was given the honor of Theta Man-of-the-Year.

In the sorority, Beau was social chairman of her pledge class, on the Standards Committee, assistant pledge trainer and 1967-68 chapter president.

Beta Rho

With a new approach to rush, Beta Rho began another superlative year. The whole sorority idea was being questioned on campus, so Theta put forth a special effort to rush not only for our chapter but for the Panhellenic spirit. The result was 25 of the best pledges ever, and enthusiasm for Beta Rho which was carried throughout the year.

Fall brought the pledge banquet, the Crazy-Hat party for big-little sisters, retreats, football with the Phi Delt, a pre-symposium discussion with the Sigma Nu's, Sigma Chi Derby Day, Greek Follies, Pam chosen Homecoming Queen, and visits from Niki Armano and CDP Mrs. William Bradford. Christmas spirit soared with parties for the pledges, the Theta-Sigma Nu party for underprivileged children, and a last minute bridge party before the vacation.

After exams, the excitement mounted as time for love and loyalty, initiation and a special banquet celebrating Beta Rho's founding drew near. The Triad pledge dance, the Theta-Beta faculty party, kites flying on West, Greek Week, Joe College and many fraternity mixers added to Theta's spring social calendar, while chapter meetings, elections, retreats and volunteer work at Duke Hospital rounded out our schedule. At last came the senior banquet and formal good-byes to the seniors, although we gathered again at Myrtle Beach for fun and sun before graduation.

Delta Theta

A gracious new housemother greeted the Delta Thetas back to their home—a home filled with beautiful new furniture. It had to be a great year (even our grass had grown!). Fall rush certainly confirmed the fact that it was our year. Thirty-two enthusiastic pledges rewarded all our rush efforts. These girls gave a successful spaghetti dinner and entertained the sisters and their dates at our Christmas party.

Homecoming was a colorful event with a Kappa Alpha Theta float in the parade and eight other Thetas riding on a float sponsored by local merchants.

On Founders' Day we got together with our alumnae and thought of Theta's past and future. The following week kites were flying high for Delta Theta's newest and largest initiation class. We are very proud of these sisters.

The annual pledge retreat was a rewarding experience for each girl, and everyone enjoyed Theta weekend. Sigma Chi Derby was a lot of fun and the various other spring activities kept the Theta girls busy. Summer approached with the promise of travel, marriage and exciting jobs, but each girl knew that her heart would return in September to her Theta love.

Beta Nu

The academic year began later than usual for the Beta Nu Thetas due to Florida State's recent conversion to the quarter system. However, we were soon busy with rush activities and by the beginning of October we had added 22 very special pledges to our chapter.

The Theta spirit was really kindled to action and enthusiasm during homecoming. We were all proud of our work on the float which we constructed and decorated with Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. The high point of homecoming came with the election of Paulette Gergen as Homecoming Queen. It was a very happy event for her Theta mom, Toni Beals, who was Florida State's 1966 Homecoming Queen.

January brought five new pledges into our home in time to help us celebrate Founders' Day. At the Founders' Day banquet the alumnae chapter presented two silver candelabras to the Beta Nu chapter.

Our Theta weekend was held during the winter quarter. The theme, Around the World, encouraged each one to use imagination in creating a costume. Winter also captured for us the honor of having five of our sisters selected for Who's Who.

We participated in the Sigma Chi Derby and Campus Sing gaining a closer unity in all our efforts. This special Theta unity we have hoped to convey to our

The new school year began with hectic formal rush for Thetas at George Washington. All of our singing and skit practices and housecleaning and refreshment-making sessions led to success in the end when we gained 13 new pledges.

This year George Washington initiated the idea of carnival booths instead of floats for homecoming celebration. Thetas rapidly turned into carpenters and smock-clad finger painters. Three of our sisters gave up the artist's life for a regal one as they represented various campus organizations as Homecoming Queen finalists.

In early December we were very honored to be the hostesses to Mrs. William Bradford, our district president. During her visit she was able to chat with us all and make suggestions on how to improve the chapter.

In February Gamma Kappas were busy practicing for interfraternity sing and initiating the pledges.

The first beautiful spring day caught Thetas flying kites at the Washington Monument.

All in all 1967-68 was an eventful one for Thetas at G.W.U.

Gamma Delta

Spring quarter 1967 greeted the Gamma Deltas with sunshine, spring fever and more honors. Our pledges made an excellent showing at the Sigma Chi Derby, tying for first place. Susan Creel was named Miss Modern Venus, Esther Ransom became the new KA Rose, Jo Ann Gunby was elected sweetheart of Pi Kappa Phi and Pat Rogers was selected as Theta Chi sweetheart.

We parted for three short months only to return to a spirit-filled house, anxiously awaiting rush and Georgia football! Gamma Delta added 20 bright new faces to its family, and together we began fall quarter in earnest. Homecoming brought added accomplishments when we placed second in the homecoming display contest and Peggy Spears was named to the homecoming court. The Miss Pandora pageant brought five Thetas into the spotlight of the University campus, and from them, Pat Binneveld was chosen as a member of the court.

Christmas brought anticipation and excitement. We staged skits, exchanged presents, laughed and cried at our annual Christmas party as we said good-bye for the holidays. But after two weeks of Christmas cheer, we gathered once more, ready for what proved to be one of the most rewarding rushes Gamma Delta has ever conducted. Twenty-three shining faces greeted us on the day of pledging.

Gamma Delta 1967-68 has been exciting and rewarding—it makes one sad to be a senior.

Beta Theta

After completing fall rush, Beta Theta chapter welcomed 24 new pledges. Shortly afterwards, Marianna Carillo, a student from Ecuador participating in Idaho's Alliance for Progress Program, was welcomed. Beta Thetas furnished her room and board and thoroughly enjoyed her visit.

Late in October, Mrs. Norris K. Levis, finance member of Grand Council, visited the chapter and was honored by an inspirational fireside.

During the Christmas holidays, University of Idaho Thetas serenaded the area rest homes and brought a little Christmas cheer to the elderly. Hopefully, this will become an annual Christmas activity.

For the second year in a row, a Beta Theta was winner of Idaho's Make It Yourself With Wool Contest.

At the completion of the first semester, the annual scholarship banquet was held for those Thetas who had achieved a grade-point average of 3.00 or above.

As the snows of winter melted away into spring, Thetas were found in all sorts of activities, including Mortar Board presidency, Alpha Lambda Delta, Angel Flight, Gem Staff and Campus Chest, all of these tinged with a bit of spring fever.

This year during rush, Delta chapter at the University of Illinois tried something new. During the last stage of rush, a film of house activities was shown to the rushees. The purpose of the film was to give the rushees a better idea of sorority life.

The film included many of the house activities. Some were spring events such as the annual pledge baseball game against the Delta Gammas, which we won 22-3, and the senior breakfast in honor of the class of '67. Fall activities included the annual pledge walkout, homecoming showing Delta Thetas working hard on house decorations, practicing stunt show routines and stuffing the float for the parade—all of which led up to our receiving the homecoming sweepstakes trophy.

Delta chapter feels that this type of film is valuable during rush because it allows the rushee to relax and take a more intimate look into the chapter. Second, it allows the rushee to see the group spirit of the sorority, and third, it is a novel change from the usual fourth stage of rush at the University of Illinois.

Certainly Christmas was the time of sharing and love for the Beta Thetas this year as we joined the Sig Eps in a Christmas party for the underprivileged children in the Bloomington area. We also helped to send our housemother to California.

Everyone at Indiana, and especially the Thetas, had Rose Bowl fever, but the chapter was able to concentrate on finals and a hectic but rewarding rush week with new skits and songs.

NU CHAPTER is proud to present Ann McCracken to Thetas everywhere. She began her Hanover career serving as freshman-sophomore class secretary, also as corridor chairman. Recreation committee of the Student Senate chose her as secretary and later Senate elected her as 1967 Bike Race co-chairman and publicity chairman of the Hanover homecoming.

Campus-wide she represents Nu chapter at Hanover in Tassels (soon to become a chapter of Mortar Board) and Gamma Sigma Pi, a scholastic honor group. During her junior year she served the Theta house as scholarship chairman, subsequently leading Nu to the campus scholarship trophy, while this year, her senior year, she is recording secretary and Annex director.

As a psychology major Ann has a 3.5 average and plans to enter graduate school in order to study advertising research. Yet all these achievements and honors scarcely show the true Theta spirit Ann exemplifies.

We revamped our scholarship program to expand pledge study hours and to require study hours of all actives below the house average. A measure was passed to prohibit phone calls during our evening quiet hours. Our Iowa City Alumnae Chapter supported this effort by adding a new study room to the house and by redecorating the existing study room. We are most indebted to Mrs. James Stehbins, an interior decorator in the alumnae organization, for her efforts in this project. This new scholarship program paid off with one of the highest chapter grade-point averages ever. And 21 of our fall pledges made activation grades.

Senior Thetas led many of the major activities on campus. Jane Anderson served as president of AWS, Marlys Balanof was chairman of the Central Judiciary committee, Barb Brewer led the famed Scottish Highlanders as drum majorette, Carolyn Mueller was vice-president of Panhellenic and Mary James was assistant director of homecoming activities.

Mrs. Ana B. McDonald Chamberlain, a Beta Omicron Theta now residing in Wyoming, recognized active Nancy Shepperd for her outstanding contribution to our chapter. Mrs. Chamberlain has established this monetary gift as an annual award.

We took advantage of the mild weather in September and chose a hayride as our fall party. After a dinner, a bonfire and songs ended the evening.

With these golden days of our lives slipping away much more quickly than we would like, it's time to look back upon the 1967-68 school year and see what it held for Kappa chapter.

The year began with another successful rush period for upperclassmen and transfers which yielded seven new pledges from all parts of the country. Later in the semester, from the end of October until Thanksgiving vacation, the house really buzzed with excitement. First of all, we had a fun-filled weekend with our fathers. Next, we teamed up with our neighbors, the Sigma Chis, to produce the grand sweepstakes winner of the homecoming decorations contest. Our last event was the Thanksgiving buffet, our annual formal. Then it was home for a few days of rest.

The period before Christmas was filled with our tree-trim party, an orphans' party with the Kappa Sigs, a house gift exchange party and caroling with the Tri Deltas.

During the spring we concentrated on working toward a good fall rush when we would be under our new system of sophomore deferred rushing. However, in the midst of all the schoolwork and other activities, we managed to find time to enter Greek Week Sing with the Sigma Chis, to have our annual barn party and to entertain at Mothers' Weekend.

It was another good year for Kappa chapter and we're eagerly looking forward to the next.

The annual Twin Star formal before Christmas vacation honored another King Kite and the pledge active Christmas party was visited by Santa and his helper. The Christmas party netted many gifts, both made and purchased, for the Institute of Logopedics.

Through the year, the Thetas joined with the newly organized Phi Gamma Delta colony on campus in preparing a script for Harlequinade. Thetas also joined the Phi Delta Thetas in a Christmas community service project.

Spring activities included Mothers' Weekend, where mothers saw the Miss K-State-Manhattan pageant, Moc Political Convention and the pledge party for the actives. The pledge party included the annual kite flying party where awards for the best decorated kite and the longest flying kite were given.

The Theta kite flew high on August 20, as Gamma Iota opened her doors to a new year. It began with an outstanding rush and the pledging of 24 wonderful new Thetas, who were presented a calendar of fun-filled events for the year. With autumn came the active-pledge retreat, the Sigma Chi Derby, jam sessions and exchange dinners. Later in the fall, Thetas entertained their "Mamas and Papas" at Parent's Weekend with the presentation of Broadway, our rush skit. Homecoming found us busy, excited and proud as Suzanne Huffines was elected first runner-up to the Homecoming Queen. In October we took part in student-faculty night as we were hosts to professors and students. In November we once again made our way to the fraternity houses to serenade. December brought Christmas to the chapter house, where we held a party for the children of our alumnae. Our Christmas date-dinner and dance was its usual success, with our own Santa Claus, Donna Falkner Barr, spreading holiday cheer to all.

Spring brought a new semester, with initiation, elections and Founders' Day as the first events. In February we held a tea in honor of alumnae. Our spring formal and senior night brought the year to a close, and many Thetas homeward bound.

Delta Kappa

Enthusiasm and hard work have brought Delta Kappa chapter many rewards this year.

This fall we were proud to fill the rush quota and pledge 55 outstanding girls. We were anxious for the pledges to become more familiar faces which they did after a week of picnics, suppers and a slumber party. The pledges responded with such spirit that they planned everything from a surprise Halloween party to a party for blind children.

Our success in rush was met by other honors on

We had three fraternity sweethearts: Pam Lane was the KA Rose, Etta Touns was the PiKA's sweetheart and Lynn Rugan was Sigma Pi's sweetheart at Tulane University. Fall semester was highlighted by our winning first place in homecoming decorations.

Spring semester brought initiation, Song Fest, Jam-Jam and a patio party when we entertained our dates in colorful hostess gowns.

We have received many honors this year and this coupled with our enthusiasm has shown us the true merit of sisterhood.

The Thetas have had a very interesting and fun-filled year. Perhaps the most interesting events were those during the Christmas season. Gamma Mu had her annual tree-trimming party complete with a huge pine tree and greens on the mantel. This year the pledges took complete charge of the decorations. The actives were very pleasantly surprised to find the living room, library and TV room all done up in red and green. Also every active found a personalized stocking for herself hanging from the front hall staircase. These stockings were filled with everything from sweets to stuffed animals. In-house festivities were culminated with the exchange of presents given out by the fiancé of one of the actives. The out-of-house festivities consisted of an orphans' party given in conjunction with Phi Sigma Delta fraternity. This is one experience which we Thetas will long remember. The expressions on the faces of these happy children when they received their individually selected presents filled the hearts of all Gamma Mus with joy. Christmas time at the Theta house is a time of fun and also a very rewarding time.

Occasionally, the duties are bothersome and the responsibility seems overwhelming. However, put us all together—working and contributing with the genuine effort to keep our house real and alive—and the most trying situations are wonderfully rewarding.

Fraternity exchanges may tend to produce feelings of dismay until communication among sisters warms the atmosphere and relaxes apprehensions.

Homecoming was a satisfying event. Each of us gave a bit of our time to build a rather amusing replica of Jason's Argo and the fire-breathing dragon, his mighty opponent. Shining in a papier-mâché tree was the golden fleece. Our theme: Get that Golden Fleece!—from the rams of U.R.I. Singing, occasionally akin to screaming, laughter and the bouncing produced by our bumpy truck alleviated the cold.

Visits from our district president, Mrs. Kenneth Ladd, and Theta's traveling secretary, Jerene Rutherford, were exceptionally delightful. Upperclass rush added nine really worthwhile girls to Gamma Eta. Anticipation of freshman rush, consuming so much of our time, instilled feelings of dread in many of our sisters. However, unusual enthusiasm allowed us to pass through rush with remarkable ease. Membership selection meetings moved smoothly and encouraged feelings of love and respect among the sisters. Extremely satisfied with its new pledges, Gamma Eta can take pride in a successful year. KATHY SCOTT

Beta Psi

After an exciting summer of Expo 67, Beta Psi Thetas began the fall term with a busy week of decorating, arranging and painting our new apartment. Its fresh and comfortable atmosphere contributed to a very successful rush. Our enthusiastic pledges began the year by organizing a day of skits, singing, eating and games in the country. The active sisters discovered that the pledge class contained some promising actresses and writers.

Beta Psi Thetas were again well represented in campus activities in 1967-68. Some of the sisters were hostesses at the McGill Centennial Art Show and also at the McGill Seminar on Quebec Affairs. Gini Dickie cheered our football team and Cathie Halpenny, a majorette, performed on the field. Kathie Tweedie designed costumes for the McGill Red and White Revue while other sisters helped to paint props.

This year a group of the sisters visited the Douglas Hospital each week to talk with the patients. We joined with the brothers of Delta Upsilon in singing carols and entertaining the patients of the Douglas at our annual Christmas party.

The chapter spent an active winter term with a ski weekend, the formal, the Parents' Party, and Founders' Day banquet. Members of our one-year-old alumnae club were a great help with their support and enthusiasm.

Fun, excitement and hard work are perhaps key words in describing the 1967-1968 school year at Eta. After a hectic three weeks of rush in the fall, 23 excited new pledges entered Eta's portals to begin their pledgship. Their meetings, projects and skits ended with initiation when they finally became a vital part of the chapter.

Eta Thetas are known for their participation in campus activities and this year was no exception. We had two girls on the homecoming court, three on homecoming central committee, one on the Junior Judiciary and yet another, a soloist in a major opera production.

Our campus activities included homecoming and the "Little Le Mans" with the Phi Psi's as well as our annual soccer game (we won for the second year in a row!). Other activities ranged from our open house, Dads' Weekend and the annual Christmas party planned by the sophomores, to our Founders' Day celebration attended by Mrs. Thomas Rowe, district president. Spring activities revolved around our skit with the D.U.'s for Winter Weekend, Moms' Weekend and our pledge formal.

If you were at Expo 67 chances are you met some of these 14 McGill Thetas who worked in pavilions galore—UN, Canadian, Youth, Quebec Industries, Cominco, etc., etc., etc.

Marti Daly served as Greek Week executive secretary and Linda Nelson headed the Greek feast committee. 1967's Greek Week was climaxed by Theta's prizewinning version of How Do You Solve a Problem Like Maria? from The Sound of Music. Thetas clinched first place in Greek Sing for the second year in a row.

Hard on the heels of Greek Sing came Water Carnival, and the Theta-Theta Chi team worked long hours on a float for the traditional procession down the Red Cedar. Wendy Bowen was chairman of the carnival's art and design committee.

Kathy Vargo reigned as Theta Chi Dream Girl for the second consecutive year, and Jeannie Rand represented us on the Zeta Beta Tau Sweetheart court. 1966 Z B T Sweetheart Kathy Hwass was second runner-up in the Miss Michigan state pageant, and Mary Lou Cantrill was initiated in the Σ A E's Little Sisters of Minerva.

Fall quarter at Upsilon started off with its usual hectic pace. Rush brought 19 pledges with spirit and enthusiasm to fill the membership roll. Homecoming with Kappa Sigma fraternity was hard work, but we were well rewarded with a first place trophy for float decoration. A luncheon and day at the football game with our fathers closed out the football season. Our final project for fall was a Christmas party, sponsored jointly with Psi Upsilon fraternity for a group of culturally deprived children. We all enjoyed the party as much as the children because we couldn't help but be influenced by their happiness and enthusiasm. It was a wonderful way to end the quarter.

Winter can be awfully bleak in Minnesota, but finding out our house grade-point had improved considerably, we were all encouraged. Then we met Ebelle and our days have certainly been cheered by her. Ebelle is a Nigerian student who ate her meals with us during the winter. She cannot return to her country because of civil war, but we have tried to make her feel at home with us. Christmas festivities meant more to us this year as we helped the A T O's entertain local underprivileged children and we also entertained children from the Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center.

Beta Mu began the fall semester with a tremendous rush which included a new Polynesian party and was rewarded with 23 outstanding pledges.

The most exciting event of the year was the planning and giving of our first international banquet. Each active and pledge invited an alumna and anyone else she wished to invite. The chapter members supplied the food so we could use all the proceeds for a good cause. The price of the banquet was $2.00 per person. Everyone in the chapter knew what the money was really for, except one—Liz Creswell. Liz was married last May, and her husband was sent to Vietnam shortly after their marriage. Liz's husband was going to be in Hawaii on a leave in November; and since she needed some extra funds to go visit him, we felt that the sisterly thing to do was to help Liz get to Hawaii. Alpha Phi's effective and fun-filled house-party paved the way for a very successful rush week, which resulted in the pledging of 25 new Thetas. The highlight of Alpha Phi's year was the November visit of Mrs. Harold Edwards, grand president, Mrs. Frederick Hunt, grand vice-president for the college program and Mrs. Walter Vaaler, executive secretary-treasurer. The three, in town for the National Panhellenic Conference, were given a tour of New Orleans by Alpha Phi's president, Gay Crowell. The actives and new pledges were thrilled at the chance to meet their national officers, who unexpectedly attended a regular business meeting and addressed the chapter.

The Christmas season saw Newcomb Thetas in the spirit of giving—parties, of course. Christmas events included the annual Christmas dinner and tree-decorating, a food-filled party at an active's home and a party hosted with the Kappa Sigmas for a group of orphans.

It was so successful that we decided to make it an annual activity.

We pledged 22 of the outstanding girls that went through rush.

These pledges were recognized on campus and in Theta for both service and social activities.

As part of the chapter service program, we held a Christmas party for orphans at the house in co-operation with the Navy ROTC.

A warm fire, cheerful decoration, and snow falling outside created a holiday atmosphere for our annual Christmas dance. The other two traditional social events, Formal Triad and the Baby Triad Stomp Dance, were anxiously anticipated.

Thetas who made their names known on campus were Grace Arnett, 1967 homecoming attendant, Ann Knight, who received more votes than any other candidate in the Senate election, and Beth Farmaris, who was elected president of AWS.

The Thetas walked away with all of the prizes at the 1967 Derby Days competition sponsored by Sigma Chi fraternity. We also did our part in promoting Greek Week spirit.

Gamma Omicron was visited by two national officers this year. Mrs. John Gallup from Grand Council was here to attend Founders' Day to help celebrate our twentieth anniversary at UNM. Also, in late December, Mrs. Robert Hiester, our district president, visited the chapter. ALAS! AUTHOR UNKNOWN

NORTH CAROLINADelta Xi

Moving day! I should say moving week. That's the way Delta Xi began the school year. Everyone was bubbling! From the little white house that served as temporary home during our first year on campus, we moved to a house where there would be room for us to eat together, live together, get to know one another better. "Should we paint our room blue or green?" "You made that yourself?" "Oh no, I forgot my trunk!" The big green house was becoming "ours," in the warmest sense of the word. And we gave it a fitting christening—a fantastic rush!

We placed in every competition we entered—second place in the Sigma Chi Derby, first place with the T E Φ's for our homecoming display, third place in the Novelty Track and Field Meet and second place in the Co-Rec carnival. Other highlights of first semester were Parents' Weekend, an alumnae dessert, a very helpful visit from Mrs. William Bradford, our district president, a Christmas party for the children of our area's alumnae, our pledge formal and a trip to the summer home of pledge Mary Fry Edmunds for a delightful dinner and Sunday afternoon.

Second semester brought initiation, another great rush, a big Founders' Day celebration with the Beta Rho Thetas, and more activities—such as the Valkyrie Sing competition. A busy year? Yes, and we're proud of it—but just wait until Next year. We're just getting started!

The Theta house was buzzing with excitement this fall. Our 23 new pledges were a fantastic help during the homecoming activities, float building, campaigning and serving as hostesses at our open house tea. This week of hard work was climaxed when our own Cathy Synder was crowned Homecoming Queen.

The social calendar provided many fun and rewarding events. There were exchanges with fraternities and a caroling party, which gave us a chance to entertain the newly colonized Alpha Chi Omega chapter. The Hawaiian Luau with the D. G.'s was a smashing success. Our spring formal gave the Thetas a chance to show their artistic talents with all the lovely decorations. An Easter party was held at our house for the underprivileged children in the area.

The pledges were also very active socially on campus. Their activities included a surprise breakfast for the Tri Delta pledges and a Christmas party for underprivileged children. They also participated in Greek Week and helped us win second place in the Greek games.

In an effort to promote better relations with the active chapter, the alumnae and Mothers' Club held a potluck dinner for the entire chapter. This fall the Thetas returned to a newly redecorated house. Needless to say, our alumnae are gr-r-reat.

NORTHWESTERNTau

Tau Thetas returned in September to find several innovations: a gracious new housemother, a new gold rug and a new rush party theme, Winnie-the-Pooh.

With Pooh leading the way, we quickly found ourselves with 35 excited pledges.

Theta fathers invaded the second floor over Fathers' weekend, November 11. They enjoyed being their daughters' "dates" to a brunch at the house, a football victory and an elegant dinner complete with a floor show by the actives. The pledge formal, a greater success than ever, took place the next weekend. The pledges were introduced individually and presented with Theta mugs.

For the pledge-active, January 12, each couple was assigned a famous duo to copy, like Amos 'n Andy or Laurel and Hardy. A hilarious atmosphere prevailed, as the costumed guests were entertained by the pledges. Initiation ceremonies and a banquet followed on the fourteenth.

Warm weather finally arrived and with it, the spring formal and Mothers' Weekend. Our mothers were treated to a weekend in the house plus a play and dinner in Chicago. The sunshine also brought the first Little 500 bicycle race and a concert following, sponsored by Panhellenic. That marked the conclusion of another hectic, yet certainly a fun and successful year at Tau.

"Success" has been the byword for Gamma deuteron's past school year. Theta seemed to take all the honors: Panhellenic scholarship trophy, all-campus sorority service trophy, first prize on our homecoming float built with the Phi Psi's, Nancy Ferris as Homecoming Queen, Lucie Mahony and Suzie Burrell on Winter Homecoming court, and, of course, the best pledge class on campus. We now have three pairs of sisters in the chapter!

A roaring twenties pledge formal and a Santa Claus Christmas party added much to social gaiety, while work projects at the Delaware County Children's Home and bus trips to Columbus' Center of Science and Industry with underprivileged children served to expand Theta's service goals.

Certain things are very definitely IN at Gamma deutron: the baby owls in the backyard, cookie dough, daisies, breakfast parties, songwriting with guitars, political discussions around the kitchen table, the shoeshine man, a tandem bike fund, e.e. cummings and keeping up on the activities of our seven sisters studying abroad. Through a special program of Wesleyan's Panhellenic council, Yolanda Rojas from Puerto Rico has become an "almost" Theta. She helped to foster the feelings of understanding and human concern which have meant so much to us this year.

Alpha Omicron

Full of life and eager to strive, Alpha Omicron was certainly on the go this year. The semesters' achievements included an outstanding freshman woman, two new Angel Flight members, three Who's Who, two Alpha Lambda Delta members and two Thetas included on the top ten best dressed list. Also in the limelight were two varsity cheerleaders, one Union activities board member and a Campus Personality.

The beauty boutique was brightened with a Pershing Rifles Queen finalist, Σ N December Sweetheart, a top yearbook beauty and an Army ROTC Queen finalist. Other beauties to capture their cups were a Miss Wool finalist and an A E II Calendar Girl.

The social scene was highlighted by the annual cerebral palsy children's Christmas party with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, active Greek Week participation, desserts, a Christmas party, a spring party and serenades. Our Sooner Scandals act was a success, the pledges entertained the members at a big-little sis party and then initiation climaxed the long awaited climb to membership.

The summer will find some of our Thetas in Europe, some at summer school and others in Tahoe, Nev. And so it was a year of warm sisterhood, excitement and fulfillment for Alpha Omicron.

Beta Zeta

With school opening, we found ourselves swamped with activities. We enjoyed formal pledging, a mom-daughter retreat, initiation and our annual spirit promotion party at homecoming. The Beta Zeta Thetas were fortunate to have a national officer, Mrs. Ward Stallings, come to our chapter. We celebrated Halloween with the Acacias by having a spook party for underprivileged children. Two casino parties were given, one for dads and one for dates. Marty Grahm, a Beta Zeta from Orange, California, visited us for Thanksgiving.

Along with all of these fun things, we had more than our share of beauties. Among these were Miss OSU, Miss Oklahoma, Redskin Beauty, Air Force ROTC Sweetheart, Pi Kappa Alpha Sweetheart, OSU Daisy Mae, Miss Cowgirl, Honorary Pershing Rifles captain and Sigma Tau Engineering Queen.

Many other Thetas were involved in leadership positions and honorary organizations. Some of the major

We also sent packages to the boys in Vietnam.

All of this made a year full of excitement and enthusiasm for the Beta Zeta Thetas.

Alpha Xi

"Fantastic rush! What great girls! Best class on campus, I hear." Sixty delighted voices echoed our pride when Alpha Xi pledged 25 outstanding girls last fall, each one charming, attractive and talented in her own special way.

Striving for Theta unity, we rose at five o'clock one autumn morning and drove to Oregon State University where we routed sleepy Beta Epsilon chapter out of bed for a wake-up breakfast. The sharing of songs, sweet rolls and our "friendship ceremony" enriched the fraternity experience of both chapters.

Moments to remember include our pumpkin-carving with the Sig Eps; a Halloween party for mentally retarded children; the lovely Christmas date dinner given by our housemother, Marie Hammer; the brilliant golden chandelier creating Manhattan Magic for our house dance.

Gracing Oregon's fraternity courts this year were the Theta beauties: Susan Hemphill, chosen by Sigma Phi Epsilon; Linda Whytal, by Chi Phi; Susan Rigolfi, by Pi Kappa Alpha; Dede Johnston, by Delta Tau Delta; Peggy Rother, by Kappa Sigma; Kathy Williams, by Tau Kappa Epsilon; Diane Rosenfeld,

Beta Epsilon

Beta Epsilon put on a great fall rush this year, pledging 26 outstanding young women. Our pledges stood out in campus activities with Nancy Clark on Freshman Rally and the Sigma Chi court, Pat Swindly and Charlotte McLeod on the Sigma Phi Epsilon Queen of Hearts court, Marcia Pearmine on Daughters of Phoebus Apollus, Marla Grammon as Phi Sigma Kappa Moonlight Girl, Susan Erickson on the Miss Mixer court. Leslie Brown, Kay Mellentin, Chris Wiley, Jane Shaw, Susan Erickson, Cathy Hancock, Charlotte Feary, Cathy Lidstrom, Mardel Chinberg, Jackie Derrick and Pam Watson were tapped for Rook Rousers with Elaine Eloranta as president and Marcia Pearmine as vice-president.

Not to be outdone by their pledges, active members kept Theta spirit and enthusiasm high on campus with Sandra Smithson on the homecoming court, Mary Ellen Lorenz as Betty Co-ed and a member of SAE Little Sisters of Minerva along with Caroline Stupp and Jan Williams. Jan also was a member of Beaver Belles with Judy Anderson as president of the organization. A moment of excitement came to us when Joan Lasalle, Judy Griswold and Linda Rummel were chosen for Mortar Board.

The Oregon State Thetas had three especially fun activities this year: the fall formal in honor of the pledges, a mother-daughter luncheon, as well as a Christmas party with Santa Claus, gifts and Christmas carols. It has truly been a busy and fulfilling year for the women of Beta Epsilon.

Phi

Phi chapter began the year with a week of rush which resulted in the pledging of 27 top-notch new girls. The following week Phi joined in a Panhellenic progressive dinner with entertainment given by each new pledge class. October brought a round of fraternity exchanges. Theta enjoyed desserts with Delta Upsilon and Phi Kappa Tau. A Halloween party with Phi Delta Chi was a decided success. A few weeks later Cheryl Benson was selected as Archania Belle.

Homecoming brought excitement to Theta when we won the sweepstakes in the float contest for the third consecutive year. Our barber shop quartet also won first place in the singing competition at the homecoming rally.

We began the Christmas season with our Christmas formal December 1, and the following week we gave a party for needy children. The house was rocking with laughter and Santa's arrival brought squeals of delight from the children, the Thetas and their dates alike. Although we were kept busy on the social scene, the emphasis was largely on scholarship this year for Phi holds the highest grade-point of women's groups on campus.

Semester break brought an opportunity to escape to the mountains and Phi rented two cabins at Squaw Valley for the week. We then returned to school to begin another activity-filled semester with Band Frolic, the pledge dance, Dads' Day and who knows what!

Halloween party comes first to our mind. The great brothers of Delta Tau Delta joined with us to open their house and hearts to the children of St. John's Orphan Asylum. It was difficult to tell who had the most fun in the middle of all the doughnuts, games and funny homemade masks made by Thetas. Christmas brought the children back again and our party was complete with stockings, cookies and a Delt Santa Claus.

Memories of rush also occupy a prominent position. Rush chairmen June Vandegrift and Nancy MacDonald did a spectacular job and better pledges could not have been hoped for. They brought us nothing but pride under their pledge trainer, Betsy Hillsberg, whether it was on the social scene in Pledges on Parade or in service to Theta through their pledge project, a chapter history in expectation of Beta Eta's fiftieth anniversary next year.

Second semester brought the initiation formal in honor of our pledges and their initiation into Beta Eta, an event waited for by both sisters and pledges. Second semester also saw the return of Gee Holm from Puerto Rico where she had been studying as a background for Latin American studies. Spending their junior year abroad in Europe were Barbara Weimer and Carol Schreter who will be back this fall.

The year has been exciting, hectic and fun, but always rewarding.

Beta Phi

This has been an especially busy and rewarding year for the Beta Phis. Fall and winter terms began with rush and we got 24 wonderful pledges. For homecoming we worked with Σ A E and won first prize on our window painting. We had our annual pledge formal, climaxed by the naming of our Theta Man. One of our proudest moments came when we were given the Zeta Tau Alpha Intersorority Service Award for our outstanding philanthropic projects. We joined with Sigma Phi Epsilon in a Christmas party for orphans.

This was our year for queens. Stephanie Wynne and Peggy Sjorgren were in the homecoming court. Leann Dawes was chosen Miss Centre County. Two outstanding seniors, Nancy Welch and Barbara Ryan, were chosen as La Vie Belles. Mary Lou Alfano, Jane Grove and Leslie Merker were junior class queen candidates.

The alumnae held a tea for us on Founders' Day. A cabin party broke the monotony of dorm living for the sisters. Greek Week found us participating in the Sing, College Bowl, bridge tournament and modeling in the fashion show. Snowtime found us paired with II K A in the annual Snow Sculpture contest. Spring terms we united our talents with Chi Phi for an outstanding Spring Week.

It was the biggest success from the word go! With three tremendous actives joining Alpha Omega in December, we all followed their theme and had the best party ever. Dressed as cartoon and comic strip characters, each couple went all out—from the Flint-

January 1968 saw us take 11 of the most outstanding pledges. We couldn't have been prouder. There was a rush of mixers, skiing, tobogganing and a wonderful ten-day visit from our traveling secretary, Jerene Rutherford. Winter Weekend came, and our pledges built our booth.

In February we sent off a Valentine's Day package full of goodies to soldiers in Vietnam, held our annual scholarship dinner and joined an inter-sorority volleyball league. And once again, we practiced for Greek Sing.

We at Delta Iota returned to the University of Puget Sound this year to a newly-redecorated chapter room to begin our fall rush. All the work and effort was made worthwhile when we pledged 20 outstanding girls. Our pledges started the year off with a bang with their pledge dance featuring a theme of The Bowery Street Ball and costumes from the 1930's.

Homecoming at UPS was a sort of Theta event this year as not only was a Theta, Nancy Parker, elected queen, but we also took first place for the best homecoming display and received second place in spirit.

TALENT, imagination and dedication are combined in Linda Brown, a junior in occupational therapy at the University of Pennsylvania. Linda, who once thought of becoming a professional dancer, taught modern dance at home and at the University. But now she is interested in dance as a means of therapy for the mentally ill, especially emotionally disturbed children. The youngest member of the American Dance Therapy Assn., Linda worked with a doctor in a research program for dance therapy at the Norwich, Conn., State Hospital. During the school year she formed her own program for psychiatric patients at Mercy Douglas Hospital in Philadelphia.

Linda feels there is great possibility for dance as a non verbal means to communicate with those too withdrawn to speak, and as a first step toward more conventional forms of therapy. In her opinion motion communication can serve as a kind of beginning for rehabilitation.

Our Christmas activities included our traditional orphan party with the Phi Delts, a party for the Tacoma Youth Center and our semi-formal held this year in Seattle.

Alpha Chi

September found the Alpha Chi Thetas excited about initiation activities. The celebration began with the annual hunt for the seniors' decorated corduroy skirts and finished up with a kite fly. Football season provided a special thrill for the sisters as we watched our Jan Carlson march as a member of Purdue's "Silver Twins" twirling team. Homecoming was particularly exciting for the Thetas, as Jeni Johnson was named a finalist for homecoming queen. Our homecoming display featured a one-story high football player who demanded, "Defeat 'Em!" Dads' Day weekend drew many fathers who thoroughly enjoyed a weekend of serenading and an exciting football game.

Campus activities drew the Alpha Chi sisters into many varied projects. The Thetas were chosen to represent the State of Maryland at the Mock Political Convention. Greek Week inspired the sisters to participate in all the activities from philanthropic projects to a Roman Feast. Mothers' Day provided the sisters an opportunity to show their musical talent in the University Sing Competition.

Fraternity trade parties and a faculty tea highlighted Alpha Chi's social activities. Our philanthropic projects included sponsoring a Korean child and giving a Christmas party for 12 needy children of the community.

This past year has been the most rewarding so far for Delta Mu. Several events highlighted our industrious spring. In April we participated in the Sigma Chi Derby and in Greek Week. We won our first trophy when we placed second in the Greek sing out of 18 units. One of the girls won the title of Rhode Island College Queen and was a finalist in the national pageant. Our pledge formal, parents' tea, initiation and socials with Phi Sigma Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi fraternities were very successful. In the summer a "get-together" was enjoyed by all.

Our homecoming display was colorful and full size. Rush began with a very well-attended round robin, held at the Phi Gam house. Informal rush showed enthusiasm from both rushee and Theta alike. An alumnae tea for all Thetas in the state was very well received. Christmas time brought even more excitement to Delta Mu when we continued our newly found tradition and held our second annual Christmas formal. We enjoyed Christmas caroling at Ladd School, a state institution for the mentally retarded. We held a wig demonstration jointly with Tri Delta sorority.

With their traditional spirit, the Gamma Gamma Thetas returned to school last fall to begin a very exciting and memorable year. Many rewards were in the offing as we added two more to the top honorary society, Libra, including the only junior member, captured the Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award and had two members recognized in Who's Who. Honors also included members in Phi Gamma Mu and Theta Alpha Phi, and making a top scholarship average.

The Christmas season was filled with many activities. Perhaps the most important of all was our student-faculty tea, where relationships with our most esteemed professors were greatly strengthened. "Señorita Wally," dressed as Santa, made our yearly Christmas party a bundle of surprises. A party of games and songs for a local orphanage was enjoyed just before vacation.

With deferred rush permanently established, we devoted much of our energies to becoming acquainted with the freshman girls during the fall term. Then, back from the holidays, we achieved the most successful rush on campus, resulting in the pledging of 14 top girls. With renewed spirit and tremendous cooperation we launched into numerous activities, our most concentrated being the patterning or exercising of a brain damaged boy.

Spring term was also filled with new gaieties and joys shared in Theta sisterhood.

Spring semester continued with Spring Sing in which we sang with the A T O's and received second prize. Sigma Chi's Derby Day followed in which we also won second place.

April was a Panhellenic month. We enjoyed dessert with Alpha Phi and entertained the Chi Omegas at our annual Chi Omega-Theta breakfast.

In May we tried a Spring Theta Party in which we and our dates barbecued hamburgers at the house and then went en masse to hear Ray Charles.

No sooner had we said farewell to 19 seniors at our Senior Goodby in June then it was fall again, and we took 33 pledges. Pledge Presents was a Friday in late September and our second annual Dads' night the next day.

October brought us Theta's traveling secretary for five days. November brought homecoming. We were fortunate to "floatbuild" with the Σ A E's and this year (as usual) our float took second place on campus and sweepstakes honors in the Mother Goose Parade.

As the Christmas spirit swept over us we enjoyed tree-decorating, caroling and an exchange of gifts within the chapter. Thetas and their dates dined and danced at our annual Christmas party, held at the Stardust Hotel.

As fall came to the University of South Dakota again, it brought with it a harvest of many familiar faces and a large crop of new ones too. As Thetas returned to campus, we had much to share with one another. Nancy Tschetter told us of her travels to New York as our state's candidate to the National College Queen contest. After an exciting week of talent events, of sightseeing, and of meeting Robert Goulet, Nancy won national recognition by being selected one of the top ten finalists in the contest.

We reminisced about last spring too . . . While practicing songs for rush week, we remembered last Mothers' Day when, for the fourth year in a row, we captured the Swing-Out trophy. As Thetas rehearsed skits for the week, we thought of last year's Stroller's trip to Washington, D.C., and how good we felt to be selected to put on our winning show for the patients of Walter Reed. New Theta Mortar Boards, under the direction of a Theta president, began to make plans for the coming semester. As Thetas registered for the coming semester, we resolved to keep up our industrious study habits in order to keep our campus scholarship trophy.

Homecoming, campus activities and honoraries, plans for our next Strollers show, Christmas teas and formals, and of course studying, kept us busy throughout the fall and winter. With the advent of second semester, Thetas began another semester by entertaining our alumnae at the annual Founders' Day program.

Beta Sigma Thetas returned to school with hopes of maintaining old traditions as well as forming new ones. Black and gold covered the campus as we donned our new Theta uniforms to foster spirit at S.M.U. The ten upperclass pledges also added to Beta Sigma chapter as new members by having a Halloween party for the faculty's children. We hosted the Drug Seminar and entertained favorite professors on Wednesday evenings.

Thetas also upheld old traditions of campus activities, service projects, honors and sweethearts. Susan Engelhardt was elected senior class vice-president and Marsha Spencer was appointed to the Student Center Directorate. Janet Neath was appointed to serve on governing board of the Student Center. Service projects found the Beta Sigma chapter involved in Greek Week, which was headed by Marie Dodson, our president. The new pledges also helped in service projects by raising money for the March of Dimes. Fran Thompson, varsity cheerleader, and Pat Dodson, freshman cheerleader, spread spirit throughout S. M. U. Two Thetas were selected to become members of Kirkos, and three were chosen to Angel Flight. Mammelles placed six new Thetas on its modeling squad and three alternates. The SAE's added two Thetas to their Little Sisters of Minerva chapter and the Kappa Sigs chose five Thetas for their Stardusters.

The social activities included Sing Song with the Betas, the Christmas formal with the S A E's, and the Fire Dance with the Betas, TGIF's and serenades.

This past year seemed to zip by faster than ever for Chi enthusiasts. In the fall we returned with suntanned faces ready to brave another onslaught of typical Syracuse winter weather!

October brought our annual Halloween party with our neighbors, Alpha Phi. Also that month, we held our second "Little Brothers" rush, a very popular event and potential tradition for us. As Christmas approached, the Theta house, amid lavish holiday decorations, provided an atmosphere of splendor and romance for an elegant Christmas formal. We also held a party for underprivileged children. Founders' Day, which brought alumnae and active members together, was also celebrated this month.

Rush and extensive preparations brought us excitement and pleasure on Valentine's Day with the best presents we could wish for—our pledges. Shortly afterwards, our wary pledges were blindfolded and taken on a mysterious ride for a "delicious" surprise of pancakes at Aunt Jemima's!

Parents' Weekend—rollicking as always—was in March. All joined in the fun of the traditional Mocktail Party, repeat of the rush skit, and numerous fun-filled events.

Our spring formal and banquet brought a close to another happy and active year. Girls were tapped by numerous honoraries, and a senior was named to Who's Who. We look back on precious memories, understanding the meaning of sisterhood and look forward to happy and enriched lives as Theta alumnae.

Labor Day lived up to its name this fall when Gamma Psi Thetas began the pre-rush rush. It paid off though, not just in the new pledge class but in a fresh sense of sisterhood to begin the year with. Dinners, swim parties and a ranch retreat helped bring actives and pledges closer together. Parents were honored at a pre-game buffet during Parents' Weekend.

As homecoming approached and "growies" filled the house, Gamma Psis learned the true meaning of flower power. Although the float didn't win, it set some sort of record for being the largest Snoopy in existence. Teamwork came through when the Theta house won grand prize for Christmas decorations, which were enhanced by hand-picked mistletoe, thanks to an energetic pledge class.

Greek Review and the spring formal put the Thetas into shape dancing the shing-a-ling, grapevine and minuet (for the more conservative Thetas).

After a successful rush, Gamma Phi was off to a soaring start for the 1967-68 school year.

The first event was the annual mother-daughter dinner given by the Mothers' Club in honor of the new pledges. Included in the program were the scholarship and outstanding Theta awards.

The next project undertaken by Texas Tech's Thetas was a homecoming float. With the theme, Tech-Pointing Toward the Future, we came through in good style. The lodge was the site of an open house for visiting ex-es who enjoyed the parade from the yard.

Next on the agenda was a retreat. While there, Gamma Phi sisters discussed the application of Theta's high standards to every day life.

Christmas was celebrated in warm spirit with the adoption of a family for the Yuletide and a party with the Fiji's.

Founders' Day banquet climaxed an exciting week for Gamma Phi. District XII's president, Mrs. W. Byron Garrett, was the guest speaker after spending a week in session with the incoming officers.

April Fool's Day was the "day of reckoning" for scholastically minded Thetas. The Mothers' Club sponsored a scholarship banquet and a menu featuring steak for the 4.0er's and beans for those below a 2.0.

Initiation, dinner-dance, and sing-song rounded out the year for Gamma Phi Thetas.

The Fashion Board of the TU campus apparently appreciates Theta style. Cindy Hubbard, a Theta, turned over her title of Best Dressed Co-ed to another Theta, Ann Rummerfield.

Our scholarship chairman was pleased to inform our chapter after semester grades were posted that we ranked first on campus. Study halls pay off! Six of our juniors and seniors were recognized for achievements in Who's Who. Community drives and toys for children at Logopedics were special Theta projects.

You may not realize it, but you are herewith viewing A Night In Las Vegas. This skit was put on during rush by Texas Thetas, featured the Octet, the Kites, Auntie Mame.

On Founders' Day, Gamma Tau hosted area Thetas with a dinner program.

Gamma Taus have had an active and rewarding year and wish Thetas everywhere success with fun and progress.

Delta Lambda

Theta's Kite flew high again as Delta Lambda enthusiastically began its fourth year. A successful fall rush, headed by Lynda Wilton and Marian Andrews, added 21 new pledges to our capacity membership.

These new pledges exhibited their abilities as "pledge power" in providing the spark which helped bring second place in homecoming decorations. They also showed their excitement as they planned the Plymouth rock party to which everyone came dressed as either a pilgrim or an Indian.

Campus activities were filled with Thetas. Jan Diehl served as a student body officer. Three Thetas, Cathy Smith, Judy Hamilton and Stephanie Hepler, were members of Mortar Board. Sue Johnson served in Spurs and on the yearbook staff. Two dancing Thetas, Sue Stucky, and Joan Richards, were chosen as members of the Utah Civic Ballet. Thetas were also active in Army Sponsors, Naiads, Little Sisters of Minerva, Athenians, Phidelpbias and Symphony Debs.

The year was highlighted with the annual presentation of the Carol Coombs Memorial Award at Founders' Day. This honor was given to Mary Ann Walton, chapter president, in recognition of her unceasing love, loyalty and devotion to Theta.

Alpha Eta

1967-68 was good to Alpha Eta. We pledged 26 top girls, and we got a wonderful new housemother—Mrs. Edith Jones. We introduced her to the campus, the faculty and our alumnae at a tea at the chapter house in the fall. Our most anticipated event in the fall is our annual Theta Barn Dance in November, which was a great success this year. We actives soon discovered that our 26 pledges were not only "tops" but also mischievous. Early one sleepy Sunday morning they woke all the actives and brought us over to the chapter house for doughnuts and hot chocolate. We revealed our Christmas spirit by caroling to all the sorority and fraternity houses on campus. In January we celebrated Founders' Day.

In the spring semester we were busy with the Bal d'Hiver, a formal dance organized by our Nashville alumnae, Greek Week, Athenian Sing and the All-Campus Weekend.

Many honors came our way this year. The Vanderbilt Homecoming Queen of 1967 was Theta Tam Hicks, and the first, second, and third runners-up in the Miss Commodore contest were Thetas. Alpha Eta was also ably represented on the Vanderbilt Women's Advisory council, the Board of Presidents, WSGA.

We only hope that 1968-69 is as good a year for Alpha Eta as 1967-68.

Alpha Upsilon

Alpha Upsilon Thetas began the school year with rush workshop and rush. The result was 12 outstanding pledges. In October we worked with Alpha Delta fraternity on homecoming decorations. Alpha Upsilon Thetas were honored by Sigma Phi Epsilon with their Outstanding Sorority trophy. We also received another this fall of a different sort in the visit of Mrs. Harold Edwards, grand president. Mrs. Edwards spent several days meeting with active chapter officers, alumnae chapter officers, and University administrators. Our annual formal was held in December, and the pledge class entertained with ten songs written by them. We celebrated Founders' Day with the Topeka Alumnae Chapter. During that weekend we also entertained our fathers with a Dad-Daughter Weekend. Initiation is always the highlight of the year, and we were extremely proud to be able to initiate our entire pledge class. The last function that we participated in as a group was the annual Greek Week. Alpha Upsilon Thetas had a busy and productive year.

Rush began September 11 with 350 great girls participating. Of those girls we pledged 13, and four girls in open rush. Then came a succession of mixers with Phi Delta Theta, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi. We entered homecoming with Tau Kappa Epsilon and helped them decorate their house. Tammy week followed with Sigma Alpha Mu pledging 18 pledges from the nine sororities, in a glorious week of fun with other sorority pledges and the Sammies. December began with Greek Sing in which Theta participated with three other sororities. Christmas vacation got off to an exciting start with our Christmas dance, given to us by our wonderful St. Louis alumnae, with an orphan party with Phi Delta Theta, a sorority gift-giving party, and a tree-trimming party with the Sigma Chi's. After Christmas and exams, a mixer with the Theta Xi's began practice for Bearskin. Bearskin, a musical variety show, met with great success. Our entry was a very happy musical adaptation of Hotel. March's Bearskin was followed by an annual orphan party with Beta Theta Pi and a wonderful spring formal put on with Pi Beta Phi. May got off to a great start with Thirteen, the annual carnival with skits and games, a freeway and rides. Theta entered the festivity with Zeta Beta Tau. We built a stage and performed a comical skit for St. Louisans and students.

Alpha Lambda

A fantastic new year was started in September with the pride of adding "golden nuggets" to our chapter. Activities started immediately with the traditional Dad-Daughter Brunch. Our Moms weren't neglected. We honored them at our spring Mother-Daughter brunch.

Activities continued throughout the year with participation in scholastic honoraries, ROTC auxiliaries and sports. We made signs often to congratulate our new Theta queens. Our fall semi-formal pledge dance, winter "grub" dance and spring formal dinner dance were as successful as ever—as was our Senior Brunch honoring the departing seniors.

We feel that it is important not only to be active on campus but also to extend ourselves beyond this and toward the community. This idea resulted in collecting canned food for the Indian Center and raising money to send to the soldiers in Vietnam at Christmas time. To deepen our thoughts we had guest speakers such as ministers come to talk on The New Morality. Firesides, cultural adventures to the Repertory Theatre and dinner exchanges with fraternities and sororities all helped to widen our scope of friends and thoughts and to lead us toward the goals Theta has set.

Alpha Sigma

Alpha Sigma began the 1967-68 school year as have Theta chapters since 1870 with the frenzy of activity better known as rush. The excitement was not halted there, however. With 16 new and unbelievably wonderful girls gracing our home away from home, honors were flying. Thetas had their thumbs in the pie and they came out grandly on several occasions ranging from Phi Sigma Kappa Moonlight Girl to Army Sponsor. The other classes not to be outdone represented Alpha Sigma well, too. Their honors included activities from cheerleading to Little Sisters of Minerva.

Oh, don't get the wrong impression. We were at school for endeavors other than contests. Perhaps one of our most educational experiences was in the form of a petite graduate exchange student from the Republic of China—Lucy Jone. She kept us on our toes searching for answers to questions we had never attempted to explain to ourselves.

Another highlight of fall amidst the usual bustle was our scholarship dinner. Speakers were Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Fielding—he, an author in residence from England.

Second semester, not to be outdone by fall's activities, brought with it new officers, Moms' and Dads' Weekends, the spring dance, finals (of course), and finally glorious summer. With a hint of sadness dampening the air, good-byes were said for another three months. Fall comes only too soon, though, and each of us anticipates the new year.

Gamma Epsilon

"Theta is tops!"—so read the huge pink sign at Gamma Epsilon during our rushing parties this year. The reason? Well, the immediate one that the sign referred to (as the fine print at the bottom explained) was the fact that the Theta chapter at the University of Western Ontario had achieved the highest scholastic standing among all Greeks on campus for the year 1966-67. And there are other reasons why we were so proud to be Thetas during the past year.

We had many things to be proud of.

Our pledge class of 24 "super-keen" girls exhibited a rare degree of initiative and ingenuity, especially on the memorable occasion when they auctioned off the blindfolded, unsuspecting actives to representatives from the fraternities, in order to raise money for Greek Week. We actives did our best to react gracefully under the stress of the situation and during the next week obediently made drapes or cooked meals for our male purchasers.

This year Gamma Epsilon was particularly outstanding in all activities of Greek Week, many of them organized and directed by a Theta. One afternoon several girls donned their oldest clothes to paint underground tunnels at London's Children's Psychiatric Research Institute, proving that Theta is tops even down below!

Delta Delta

Choral contest and the spring formal long over, school ended; Delta Delta's convention representative packed her bags and the rest of us scattered, taking those things "willed" us by outgoing seniors. This has been a good year, from the excitement of meeting 22 new pledges at its beginning to the excitement of many pinnings and engagements throughout. February saw initiation, and afterwards new initiates trying to fly kites on Ankenny Field, with the usual limited success. Founders' Day celebration was combined with a banquet honoring high scholarship. December was equally busy; ice cubes announced the pledge dance "Crystalline Moonlight;" later the pledges serenaded actives with Christmas carols. 1967 finished with an open house, popcorn-and-cranberry strings pointing the theme of an old-fashioned Christmas. Fall was bright; we were represented by the cheer queen and a homecoming princess. Our all-campus serenade opened October and pumpkin carols closed it, while an informal dance made up the middle. In November Walla Walla alumnae entertained the sophomore class at a luncheon and the freshmen at dessert. This was a good year under our kite.

Beta Lambda

The annual back-to-school luncheon brought all the Beta Lambda Thetas together again ready to begin work and renew close friendships. Bimonthly luncheons, held on Saturdays, were initiated to bring our entire chapter together more often and our standards committee led us in firesides.

We enjoyed several projects for other people.

Our tea, given for all the housemothers on campus, was a great success. Everyone pitched in to help with the spaghetti dinner given to raise money for our orphan in Vietnam. Later on, at Christmastime, we gave a party for mentally retarded children.

The football team at W and M did not have many at-home games, so, for their away games we sent them telegrams to show our support. We also held a reception for both football and track teams.

Homecoming brought great excitement and hurry. Getting the float ready for the parade took many hours of work, and we enjoyed our Miss Muffet and the slogan, We Won't Muff It, although we did not take a prize.

Our annual fall dance gave us all a chance to feel elegant and to welcome back alumnæ and transfers.

One of the most enjoyable evenings at the house was our Happy Hour, a party given especially for freshman men. They showed up in full force.

At Christmas our chapter party with Santa and his elves filled us with the holiday spirit and ended the year on a warm note.

Just Under the Wire

Thetas move fast! Hazel Shook Pingree is a 55-year-Theta from Alpha Gamma, Ohio State. Visiting in Orlando, Fla., the notice of the local Theta Founders' Day banquet caught her eye. Phoning about it, she found she had only an hour to catch the start of events. Moving quickly, she made it! (And local Thetas were so glad she did.)

This Queer North Dakota Breed

You find Thetas in the strangest—and nicest places! There was this day in March when my husband and I were traveling in Arizona. As I was reading the Sunday paper in the motel I came across an article about an older Theta from my chapter, Margaret Mudgett (see Twine, p. 16).

So, being this "queer North Dakota breed" as Frances Ohnstead Smith (Gamma Phi, Texas Tech, but a native North Dakotan) said we all were when I saw her recently in Phoenix, I had to look Margaret up.

We had a good chat inside the gift shop she runs and also outside at the car where I introduced her to my husband. Separation by years and miles doesn't mean much to Thetas, I have learned!

Whither College Housing?

One morning recently I came downstairs to find, in addition to my breakfast, a neatly folded magazine opened to an article entitled, "Whither College Housing?" My Theta wife (Carolyn White Ledman, Beta Iota, Colorado; Alpha Gamma, Ohio State) was as delighted as I was that her sorority magazine included information directly connected with my line of work as general manager of Lakeview Dormitories, Inc., a private dormitory development at the edge of the Ohio University campus, Athens, Ohio. In fact, it seemed as though you might have seen our complex or even interviewed me, it hit so close to home.

KENNETH B. LEDMAN

I want to thank you for sending me a copy of the Winter 1967-68 issue of the KAPPA ALPHA THETA MAGAZINE. I read the Operation Brass Tacks article, "Whither College Housing?" with much interest. It contains a complete and accurate picture of college housing today as I see it and offers sororities a challenge which I feel they must accept. I hope that many actives as well as alumnae will read it.

How About That?

South Dakota collegiate Thetas are proud of the following tribute published in a letter in the local press and written by Washington, D.C., South Dakota alumni officials. Besides presenting the musical show told about below at the Senate Office Building, we gave it at Walter Reed Hospital.

I quote: The Spirit of '67, an outstanding musical show presented by 23 Alpha Tau Omegas and 17 Kappa Alpha Thetas from the University of South Dakota, received a standing ovation from an audience in the Senate Office Building here in Washington. The performance was sponsored by the South Dakota University Alumni Assn. and the South Dakota State Society,

"Well done," "inspiring," "refreshing," "so different," "so professional," were some of the many comments from an audience of about 300 statesmen, government officials, D.C. businessmen and their families who viewed it.

The University of South Dakota, the Strollers Organization, ATO and Theta and the many who contributed over $4,000 for the cost of the trip are to be commended for the very fine performance which depicts vividly our American heritage and the privileges of being an American.

In these days when our revered right of dissent is used too often merely to defy instead of to protect, it was refreshing to see The Spirit of '67 written, directed and performed so well.

Surprises! Surprises!

When I went to the Spokane Alumnae Chapter banquet I expected one pleasant surprise—the presentation of my 50-year-Theta pin. But there was a second surprise. I found my old friend and college roommate, Osceola House Rice, whom I hadn't seen for 50 years! I am very grateful.

To Theta Parents:

Your daughter's magazine is sent to her home address while she is in college and we hope that you enjoy seeing it. But if she is no longer in college and is not living at home, please send her new permanent address to Kappa Alpha Theta, Suite 342, 1580 Sherman Avenue, Evanston, Illinois, 60201.

No need to ask these Thetas and their dates if they were having fun! The scene was the annual Theta Barn Dance at Vanderbilt—termed the "most anticipated event of the season." Picture a room chock-full of such enthusiastic and energetic dancers as these who were "caught in the act"—l. to r., Donna Temple, Randy Coley, Carol Clark, Jay Brown.
